Onteora Bids Voted For $1,464,827 Sum

Bids amounting to $1,464,827 for construction of two new schools and an addition to the Woodstock school were accepted by the Onteora Central School board at a special meeting Wednesday night.

Work will begin as soon as legal contracts are drawn up and signed by the low bidders.

Bids were solicited singly and also in combination for the project which includes a new 13-room school in West Hurley; a new 13-room school in Phoenicia and a 11-room addition to the present 10-room school in Woodstock.

The single bids for general construction were accepted by the board; for the heating and ventilating combination bids for all three projects were acepted; single school bids were accepted for the plumbing as were the single bids for electrical work. All electrical bids for work at the West Hurley school were rejected by the board and that contract will be re-advertised and re-bid as soon as possible.

Swart Low Bidder

Henry H. Swart and Son of Kingston, was awarded the contract for the Woodstock addition. Base bid and alternate 3 was accepted in the sum of $284,460. Henry Swart and Son was the apparent low bidder for the new Ulster County Office Building in Kingston, bids for which were opened Monday, the same day as the Onteora school jobs.

William E. Forrest, Inc., Poughkeepsie, was awarded the West Hurley contract with a base bid and alternates 1 and 3, for the sum of $363,675.

I. & O. A. Slutsky of Hunter was awarded the Phoenicia school job with a base bid and alternate 3 bid of $340,694.

Tougher Plumbing and Heating Company, Inc., of Menands, with a combination bid for all three schools of $227,360 was awarded the heating and ventilating contract. Base bid and alternates 1-B and 3 were accepted by the board.

Plumbing Bids

Plumbing bids were accepted on a single school basis as follows:

Rocky to Study Europe for Data If He Campaigns

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller will visit the key cities of Western Europe during a 12-day swing that is expected to provide background for discussion of U.S. foreign policy during his expected bid for the Republican nomination for President.

The governor will fly Monday from New York City and will visit Rome, London, Bonn, Berlin, Brussels and Paris, returning to New York Oct. 4. He will be accompanied by his wife.

To See Macmillan

Rockefeller will confer with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. And aides reportedly are trying to obtain appointments with heads of other nations.

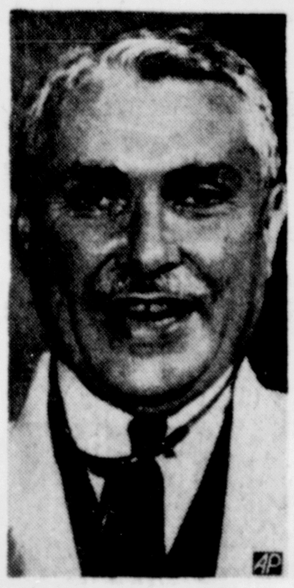

Rockefeller is expected to declare formally within the next two months his candidacy for the GOP nomination to oppose Democratic President Kennedy next year.

Rockefeller has frequently criticized Kennedy's conduct of foreign policy and the European trip will enable the governor to comment on European affairs on the basis of direct meetings with key government officials.

The governor's stopover in Berlin, for example, will afford him an opportunity to visit the wall that the communist government of East Germany has built through the city. Rockefeller has said the Berlin Wall is evidence of what he terms Kennedy's failures in coping with communism.

Drug Addiction Is Community Health Problem

Drug addiction is a serious community health problem and the affliction is no respecter of age, social position or economic status, John J. Bellizzi, director or narcotic control for the State of New York, told members of Kingston Rotary Club Wednesday at their weekly luncheon-meeting.

"The evil has no regard for background for during my 20 years in law enforcement I have come face to face with addicts from all walks of life," he said. "It appears that all of these unfortunates are seeking an escape—an escape from reality, from responsibility and from life itself. They do not seem to have the capacity or will to cope with the many problems of everyday living. When social or economic reverses or pressures and demands on their services seem unbearable they turn to the false security of narcotic drugs."

The addiction, the director said, can be compared to any other community disease in the three essential factors needed for it to flourish; the host or susceptible individual, the agent (narcotic drug in this instance) and the environment which acts as the catalyst to bring the host and agent together to form the addict.

60,000 Addicts in U.S.

This community disease theory to explain the high rate of addiction incidence in our larger cities, especially the port cities where narcotics are smuggled in and are readily available. Because of the many complex urban problems there are more of

JFK, Negro Leaders to Talk Today

NAACP Would Cut Aid to Alabama

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy meets today with the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. and six other Negro leaders to discuss the simmering racial situation in Birmingham, Ala.

On Monday, five of the Negroes called on Kennedy to send federal troops to Birmingham to control "civil disorder."

Would Proclaim Day

Long weeks of racial tension in the Alabama steel city reached a climax Sunday when a bomb was tossed into a Negro church, killing four children and injuring 23 others. In later incidents the same day, two Negro youths were killed.

In advance of Kennedy's late afternoon meeting with the Negro leaders, many civil rights leaders across the nation called for recognition of next Sunday as a day of national mourning for victims of the Birmingham church bombing.

A bipartisan group of senators, headed by Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader, has introduced a resolution calling on Kennedy to proclaim Sunday "a day of national observance in memory of these children and a day of rededication in the nation to the principles of law, equality and tolerance."

The situation in Birmingham brought a call Wednesday from Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, for the federal government to "cut off every nickel and every dime going into Alabama."

Asks Closing of Base

Wilkins told a news conference here that President Kennedy should start by "closing down Maxwell Air Force Base at Montgomery immediately."

Besides King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, the group calling on Kennedy includes Ralph D. Abernathy, King's deputy, and these five leaders of Birmingham's Negro community:

The Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth, leader of the Alabama Human Rights Movement; A. G. Gaston, businessman whose home and motel were recently bombed; Dr. Lucius Pitts, president of Miles College; Bishop H. I. Murchison; the Rev. J. L. Ware.

Central Registration Will Close Tomorrow

Friday is the last day for central registration at the Ulster County Board of Elections, 74 John Street.

Anyone who expects to be out of town on the regular days of registration may register tomorrow at the Board of Elections office from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Cement Plant Will Lay Off 160, 29th

Curtailment of production for the balance of the year at the North American plant of Marquette Cement Manufacturing Co., near Catskill will affect 160 families in northern Ulster County and the Catskill area.

Marquette in an announcement Wednesday from its Chicago offices said heavy inventory and slackened demand for cement in the area will force the firm to curtail production at its Catskill plant for the year, effective Sunday, Sept. 29.

Finish grinding, loading and shipping of cement will continue but approximately 160 employes will have to be furloughed at that time, according to Plant Superintendent Harris Roberts. The plant employs over 200 at Catskill.

Benefits to Continue

"To minimize any hardship this may cause our people," Roberts said, "affected employes may take their paid vacations during this period or, if they have had their vacation, they will participate in the Supplemental Unemployment Benefit plan which covers Marquette wage-earners at all of its plants. Furthermore, in accord with company policy, prevailing life insurance, hospital and surgical and extended coverage insurance will be continued for all laid-off employes."

The Catskill plant produces North American brand cement. Operations are expected to be resumed there in January.

A notice similar to this announcement was posted on the employes bulletin board at the plant.

No layoffs are contemplated in other area plants.

No Layoffs Here

A spokesman at Hudson Cement Corp., North Street, Kingston, which employes 200, said no layoffs are contemplated in the near future.

Area Search Is Made for Missing Po'keepsie Woman

Search was under way in this area today for Miss Margaret Freal, 47, of 71 Winnikee Avenue, Poughkeepsie, who has been missing since Monday afternoon.

Police Chief John L. Martin told The Freeman that Miss Freal, an employe at St. Francis' Hospital, was reported missing at 6:20 a. m. Tuesday after she failed to report for work.

The chief said the missing woman is white, 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs 175 pounds, has grayish brown hair and when last seen she was wearing a powder blue coat, red dress and carrying a large pocketbook.

Miss Freal left work at the Poughkeepsie hospital at 4 p. m. Monday, and took a bus to Market and Mansion street, where she met a woman friend and walked a block with her and then the two parted.

At 5:45 p. m., that day, Doris Boykin, a St. Francis Hospital employe, saw Miss Freal walking along Route 44-55 near the Highland Traffic circle. Miss Boykin told Detective Francis "Pete"

28 Arterial 2nd Major Part of Plan

Opening of the Washington Avenue-Route 28 arterial strip Tuesday marked completion of a second major phase of arterial planning for the city, within its bounds, and the third to be built in conjunction with construction of a new Rondout Creek bridge is in the planning stage.

The road opened Tuesday was not included in the 79-page state report on arterial route plans for the Kingston urban area, officially submitted to the city Jan. 15, 1954 during the administration of former Mayor Frederick H. Stang, but was added when the city petitioned for early action to get rid of the Washington Avenue viaduct and narrow Esopus Creek bridge.

Changed Later

Plans for the downtown area, as then submitted, called for a new arterial highway in the vicinity of the present Rondout Creek bridge with changes on Wurts and McEntee Streets, and on Broadway. This was changed several years later, and as plans now stand, the span, with arterial connections, will be built close to the alignment of Hasbrouck Avenue.

A first major phase of the city's arterial system, the uptown interchange and arterial spur between Albany Avenue and the Thruway circle was completed in July, 1960.

Another Gain

The city also gained this year an important arterial to its west, the 209 or Kingston bypass, facilitates travel to and from the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge and several connecting main highways. This was not included in the 1954 report.

The state public works department's arterial route program was authorized by legislation enacted as early as 1944, and studies were made in the Kingston area several years after that.

The uptown arterial extending westward from Albany Avenue got first major attention in 1956.

GOP Still Wary of Spending

Says Measure Is Vital to Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has urged the people to speak up in support of his tax reduction program. He said its benefits would range from new washing machines for families to new strength around the world for the American dollar and freedom.

"But that bill is in danger of being weakened or deferred," declared Kennedy. "It needs your help, your voice."

Thus through a national radio and television speech, the President sought to light a grassroots fire under Congress on behalf of the $11-billion tax reduction — which he called the most important domestic economic measure in 15 years.

First Major Hurdle

The first major hurdle will come next Wednesday when the House is expected to vote on the tax program. But Kennedy was also looking toward the Senate where the bill faces a stormy time.

Kennedy directed his appeal all along the economic front, from businessmen to factory workers, from families watching their own shaky budgets to citizens worried over the government's unbalanced budget.

He asked for quick passage of the bill without a proposed Republican amendment tying tax cuts to curbs on spending.

Almost as soon as Kennedy finished his address, William E. Miller, Republican national chairman, fired off telegrams to the networks asking equal time to reply to the President.

Retorts to Charges

Retorting to GOP charges of fiscal recklessness, Kennedy said: "No wasteful, inefficient or unnecessary government activity will be tolerated on the grounds that it helps employment. We are pledged to a course of true fiscal responsibility, leading to a balanced budget."

Much of his appeal was directed to people like the $8,000-a-year family whose prospective benefits he singled out as an example. The head of such a household, he said, could look to the tax cut for enough extra take home pay to meet "the installments on a new dishwasher for his wife."

Other families, he went on, might prefer to use theirs on "a new spring wardrobe, or a washing machine, or a longer vacation trip, or a down payment on a new car or a new home." And he said the demand so created would help the country "skip a recession" and provide the 10 million jobs needed in the next 2½ years.

Looks for GOP Help

Kennedy obviously was looking for some help from Republicans, too.

He said:

"This is not a question of party—it is a question of jobs and growth. It is a question of whether our taxpayers and businessmen and workers will get the break they deserve. As the Congress prepares to vote on this issue, I strongly urge you to support this bill for your family's sake and for your country's sake."

The tax proposal that Republicans have put forth would provide that the tax cut, which Kennedy wants to start Jan. 1, would not

200 Sign Petition For Fair Bus Plan

Approximately 200 residents in the Seventh Ward of Kingston have signed petitions urging the Board of Education of the Kingston School District (Consolidated) to establish a transportation policy for school children that will be fair and uniform to the entire district.

Mrs. Harrison Dart, 69 Union Street, said today that she and a neighbor, Mrs. Clarence Miller, of 66 West Union Street, circulated petitions Wednesday that were signed by approximately 200 residents, including some property owners and persons who rent homes in the city.

"We hope the Board of Education will act favorably on our appeal and provide bus transportation for the children, especially those who attend the kindergarten and up to the Third Grade," Mrs. Dart said. "We feel that the present transportation policy of the school board places a hardship on the children and parents and it effects the health and welfare of the children, who have to walk along unprotected streets to and from school."

Mrs. Dart said that mothers in the Sixth Ward and in other sections of the city are circulating petitions. Mrs. Dart and Mrs. Miller will continue today, to obtain signatures of residents in the Seventh Ward.

Mrs. Dart said she rents the home where she and her family reside. Mrs. Miller, according to Mrs. Dart is a property owner.

Commenting on the Common Council action on Tuesday calling for a meeting of all aldermen with the Board of Education to air the downtown school transportation problem, Mrs. Dart said," It appears the council members are in support of our move to obtain bus transportation for our children, who reside within the one mile limit. It is good to know that someone is supporting us for the benefit and welfare of the small children."

Mrs. Dart said that it was de-

State Aid to Education Is Record $953.5 Million Total

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State paid out a record $953.5 million in aid to education during the 1962-63 school year—$150 million more than in the previous year. The Education Department says state aid will climb past $1 billion in the current school year.

The department reported Wednesday that 1,202 districts throughout the state had received aid for the school year ended last June.

The increase stemmed from application of a new formula for disbursing the aid. The 1962 Legislature adopted the formula on the recommendation of the Diefendorf Committee on School Financing.

The increase is being carried out in three steps. The first and largest step applied to the 1962-63 year.

The aid is expected to increase more than $50 million this year and $60 million in 1964-65.

State aid to public schools, the largest single item in the state budget, is based primarily on enrollments, which have been mounting sharply since World War II.

Hoffa Backs Rocky For '64 Nomination

NEW YORK (AP) — James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, has endorsed Gov. Rockefeller for the Republican presidential nomination. And Rockefeller says that if he makes the race, he'll "welcome trade union support."

Hoffa's endorsement was revealed Wednesday in a filmed CBS television interview. Rockefeller commented:

"I do not know Mr. Hoffa. The reason he gives as to why the members of the Teamsters Union might support me are appreciated.

"In my campaign for re-election for governor last year, I had the active support of a great many leaders and members of organized labor.

"If I do become a candidate for the nomination, I should welcome trade union support based on the record of achievement in New York State. . ."

CBS said the interview with Hoffa was filmed last Sunday in Chicago.

Telephone calls to Hoffa's hotel room in Chicago Wednesday night were answered by an aide, who said Hoffa was not accepting calls.

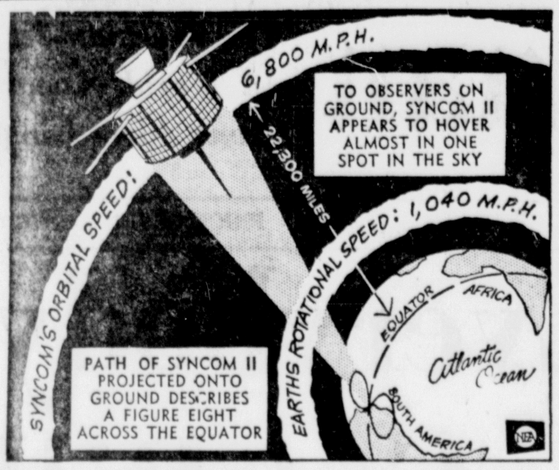

Earlier another Hoffa aide said Hoffa "made no statement as such" concerning endorsement of the New York governor.

A CBS spokesman replied:

"These are Mr. Hoffa's own words. We'd be glad to show them to him or his aides if they wish. The remarks are on film."

The CBS broadcast also had Hoffa saying that neither Presi-

TALKINGEST SATELLITE—Syncom II, the first successful "synchronous satellite," has accumulated more message time than all other communications satellites combined. Since its launching on July 26, it has averaged more than 15 hours a day of receiving and transmitting signals. Syncom II is called synchronous because its speed in orbit 22,300 miles high is just enough to keep it above one point on the equator (see News-Graphic above). It actually wanders in a figure-eight pattern above the same area of Brazil and the Atlantic Ocean. Small gas jets, which have enough fuel for two years, are periodically fired to maintain and correct Syncom's position.

CD Courses Set For Adult Study

Major H. Edgar Timmerman, Civil Defense Director for Ulster County, has announced that several Civil Defense courses will be offered to the public this year under the Adult Education Program of the Kingston Consolidated School District.

At the present time a class for Civil Defense Medical Aides 1st Class (advanced) will be registered Sept. 23 from 7 to 9 p. m. at Kingston High School. Mrs. Genevieve Tinnie, R.N. will be the instructor. The requirements for this course are previous satisfactory completion of Medical Aide, 3rd and 2nd Class, or equivalent. This course consists of 8 - 2-hour sessions, and teaches methods for medical aides in Improvised Emergency Hospitals.

It is hoped that about 15 persons will register for this course either at KHS or at the Civil Defense Office, 467 Broadway (upstairs).

Courses for Medical Aides 3rd and 2nd Class also will be offered if enough are interested. These classes will be open to both men and women.

Major Timmerman urges that all young families try to have at least one member of the family take a basic course which is only four sessions of two hours each. All Civil Defense courses are free and there is no registration fee.

Kennedy Asks

take effect unless he submitted spending budgets not greater than $97 billion for the present fiscal year, which started July 1, and $98 billion for next year.

No Detailed Estimate

This would mean cuts of about $1 billion from this year's spending and perhaps as much as $3 billion to $4 billion from next year's which has not yet been estimated in detail.

Denouncing "credit card government," Miller, a New York congressman, told the networks in his telegrams asking equal time that millions of Americans in both parties disagree with what he called the "formula of living it up today through huge spending and charging the bills to our children and reducing federal revenues."

Without spelling it out, Kennedy lit into the earlier Republican proposal—and tried also to counter an expected slowdown in the Senate that might delay the bill until next year.

Fears Delay

"Very few are openly opposed to cutting taxes," he said. "But there are those who, for one reason or another, hope to delay this bill, or to attach ruinous amendments, or to water down its effect.

"It must not be diluted by amendments or conditions. It must not be sent back to the House Ways and Means Committee. It must not be put off until next year.

"This nation needs a tax cut now—not a tax cut 'if'—not a tax cut 'when'—not a tax cut in the future or a tax cut for the few."

Some Democrats were quick to say the President's effort had improved their chances in the crucial votes next week.

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., a member of the Ways and Means Committee which wrote the bill, said: "I definitely think the speech has helped us defeat the Republican motion. I think the vote will be fairly close, but I think we'll win."

Calls It Strong Case

Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, who as Democratic leader has the main responsibility for getting out the vote, said he thinks "the President has made a very strong case."

In the Senate, Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said that what he called Kennedy's excellent address would help.

Mansfield pledged continued efforts to have the bill passed this year.

But Republicans professed to find no reassurance in what Kennedy had to say about holding down spending — either in his speech or in an earlier letter endorsing a congressional declaration that passage of the bill would be a commitment against spending merely for the sake of economic stimulation.

Injuries Prove Fatal

Home Builders To Meet Tuesday

Alexander J. McKittrick, manager of the Hyde Park office of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Kingston, will discuss new developments in the mortgage market at the September meeting of the Home Builders Association of the Hudson Valley. Sam Hankin, president of the Home Builders, in making the announcement, said the association's first meeting of the 1963-'64 season would be held Tuesday, Sept. 24, at the Ship Lantern Inn, Milton, at 6 p. m.

The program for Tuesday's meeting is being presented by the Home Builders Association's Finance Committee. McKittrick plans to discuss two recent developments affecting mortgage financing that are expected to be of interest to home builders and developers. One is trade-in financing and the other is land acquisition and development funds.

Trade-in financing permits a broker or builder to take in an existing home in trade for a new or other existing dwelling with a small outlay of actual cash. The Federal Housing Act of 1961 made trade-in financing feasible to Federal Savings and Loan Associations by permitting them to participate in such financing. Trade-in financing generally exists when the supply of and demand for housing is nearly in balance.

Funds for land acquisition and development is another relatively recent development in mortgage financing. Under this program, the lending institution will make loans of up to three-years duration to developers to purchase land and develop subdivisions. The program permits developers to set up land for future residential sites.

The Home Builders Association of the Hudson Valley represents builders, building supply dealers, bankers and realtors from Dutchess, Ulster, Sullivan and Orange Counties.

Hoffa Backs . . .

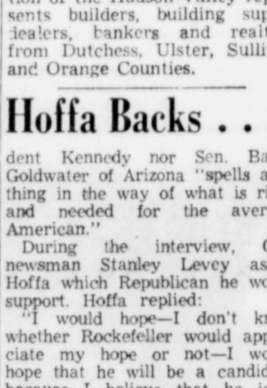

dent Kennedy nor Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona "spells anything in the way of what is right and needed for the average American."

During the interview, CBS newsman Stanley Levey asked Hoffa which Republican he would support. Hoffa replied:

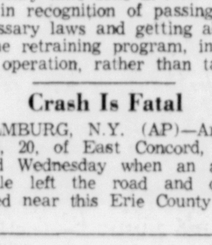

"I would hope—I don't know whether Rockefeller would appreciate my hope or not—I would hope that he will be a candidate because I believe that he is a seasoned individual — watching what he has done in New York and in recognition of passing the necessary laws done in New York and in recognition of passing the necessary laws and getting ahead in the retraining program, in actual operation, rather than talk."

Demos to Elect County Chairman On September 25

Spirited contests are expected to highlight the election of a chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Committee scheduled at a meeting to be held Wednesday, Sept. 25 at 8 p. m. at the County Courthouse.

William A. Kelly, incumbent chairman who has held that post more than six years, said today he will seek election for another term.

Former City Judge Aaron E. Klein, chairman of the City Democratic Committee, has previously announced his intention to oppose Chairman Kelly at the meeting next week.

Considerable interest has been stimulated throughout the county in the coming election and annual meeting of the county committee. In addition to naming a party leader for the post now held by Kelly, committee members will fill vacancies if any exist in area communities, and receive reports of incumbent officers.

Rochester Town Studies Taking Over Highways

Taking over four highways in the Timothy Estates, Town of Rochester, the carting of liquid manure in open containers, appointment of Democratic inspectors of election and recommendation of a Town of Rochester representative on the Ulster County Planning Board, were among the matters discussed at the regular monthly meeting of the Town of Rochester town board.

Explains Advantages

The matter of taking over four highways in the Timothy Estates development was discussed by the town board with Attorney Benjamin Lonstein and H. C. Schwab. Attorney Lonstein reviewed the maps with the board members and further explained advantages to the town. Superintendent of Highways Richard Gray reported he would like to discuss the matter with County Superintendent of Highways Roland Green and get his views. A special meeting of the board will be called in the near future after the town board has submitted the papers to the town attorney for legal advice and all parties have come to an agreement on the proposal.

The regular monthly highway meeting was rescheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 25, at 8 p. m. at the town clerk's office, due to the religious holidays.

The board unanimously passed a resolution recommending John W. Scribano as town representative on the County Planning Board. He is chairman of the Town of Rochester Town Planning Board.

Complaint Aired

R. H. Davis was present at the meeting and entered a complaint in regard to certain poultry farms carting chicken feathers, liquid manure and other offensive debris over town roads past his home in open carriers.

The matter was debated at length as it was agreed that with time and study ordinances to correct this matter would have to be enforced. It was stated that the Department of Health is the authority in control of chicken farms.

Davis spoke further in regard to cars speeding past his premises. Supervisor A. Richard Terwilliger explained that speed limits are controlled by the State Traffic Commission.

Justice Abram Smith suggested an ordinance be enacted whereby liquid manure be carried in tankers. No action was taken on the suggestion.

Supervisor Terwilligger filed final notice that the equalization rate for the town of Rochester was 27 per cent.

Accept Inspectors

District 1, William and Kathryn Gaetjens, Accord, Ira Deyo, clerk.

District 2, Angela Pellicane, Accord, and Amelia Gaydos, Kerhonkson.

Distrit 3, Adelaide Wynkoop and Philomena Beesemer, Kerhonkson.

The next regular meeting will be October 3, at 8 p. m. at the town clerk's office

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 19, 1963

YOUNG MEN AND GOP

Many Republican politicians are wondering if their party may not be undergoing a small revolution of the sort which swept through the Democratic organization with President John F. Kennedy's victory in 1960.

His capture of the nomination at Los Angeles lifted into positions of state political authority and influence a host of younger men. Left trailing along behind were some of the older hands, who had worked for other candidates.

Two prominent exceptions were Chicago's Mayor Richard Daley and Rep. William Green, the party boss of Philadelphia, who produced an astounding 330,000-vote city margin for Kennedy in the election.

Numerous reports today suggest that a similar cluster of young men might in 1964 be involved in a takeover of the GOP. As in 1960, the effort would be linked with the political fortunes of a particular candidate—in this case, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

A high proportion of the party's young men are for Goldwater for president. All the touted youthful GOP state chairmen in the rising Republican movement in the South are in the senator's camp. So are a fair share of the leaders of similar age in the Mountain states.

Together, these men do not command decisive strength either in terms of convention delegates or electoral votes. But reports have it that they are gaining important allies, thus far quietly, in the more powerful industrial states.

For more than 30 years these latter have called the tune at nominating time. Their leaders almost without exception have demanded moderate candidates. But now there is something missing. A Goldwater backer expressed it when he said:

"The opposition is in disarray."

Indeed, no clear, governing leadership seems in sight. Neither Dwight Eisenhower, Richard Nixon, Thomas E. Dewey or any other is providing it.

Doubts about New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and professional party disinterest in Governors George Romney of Michigan and William Scranton of Pennsylvania deprive the once dominant industrial group of an effective operating focus.

It is not yet correct to say that this revolution building in the GOP has been accomplished. Some of the old professionals in the big states are resourceful fellows.

But their problems are becoming acute. They are under increasingly intense pressure from moneyed and other forces within their own states to give way and let the revolution occur.

By next April or May, the chances are good it will either have become a fact or have been halted and destroyed. For by then Goldwater's fortunes within the party will be fairly well determined.

MURDER IN THE TEMPLE

Millions of Americans were in their chosen places of worship at the hour, on the third Sunday of September 1963, when a bomb exploded in the Sixteenth Street Baptist church in Birmingham. Let those millions undertake to consider this happening with empathy; let them envision, as graphically and bloodily as may be, how it would have been had the bomb roared in the sanctuary where they themselves worshiped.

An effort to achieve empathy, to feel kinship, with fellow human beings stricken by misfortune must always be made by those who count themselves men of good will. In this case such an effort is all the more essential because the bombing was an act of savagery directed at all of us. For here was brutish violence and hatred, against which man's better nature has struggled through all the generations, smashing into the very temple of God.

No church, anywhere in the United States, can wholly escape feeling the tremor of the blast that took the lives of four young girls and injured many others in that Birmingham church. No one who worships, anywhere in the United States, can feel indifference to the terrible sacrilege that added to the horror of this crime.

The crime was murder—murder done in blind hatred, and with profound malice. The circumstances of the crime make it all the more a deed to wrench the hearts of Americans who were at worship on the morning of the third Sunday in September 1963.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

THE GROWING DISEASE OR "MEANS-ITIS"

The tendency to exalt the means at the expense of ends grows as life becomes more organized and more bureaucratic. We gather statistics, not to use them, but to keep the gatherers of statistics fully employed. Teachers are compelled to go back to school in their spare time not to broaden their cultural background, but to take boring and repetitious courses that provide an excuse for the existence of a certification apparatus that passes on promotions and pay. And as the number of farmers in the nation shrinks, the number of people on the payroll of the Department of Agriculture swells inordinately. It's a case of twice as many bureaucrats advising half as many farmers.

This is Parkinson's law, all right, doing for social organisms what a misguided physiology once did for the dinosaurs. And now this "means-itis," as the disease might be called, has begun to afflict the leaders of the labor movement. See, for example, the report, 'Labor Looks at Labor," made by ten leaders of Walter Reuther's United Automobile Workers for the Fund for the Republic's Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara, Calif.

This report, in effect, bewails the fact that the rank and file of the U.S. union membership still think of a union as a means of getting better working conditions, not as an end in itself. The rank and file refuse to think of their bargaining agents as anything more than agents, which annoys the agents no end. The agents want "loyalty," in quotes—which is equivalent to a lawyer asking loyalty from his client, not vice versa.

The trouble with the contemporary union movement, according to Walter Reuther's ten executives, is that its membership has more or less gotten what it needs out of its bargaining agents. "All the things we fought for," says one of the UAW officials, "the corporation is now giving the workers. What we have to find are other things the workers want which the employer is not willing to give him."

But how does an agent go about manufacturing things to revive a loyalty to him that is no longer functionally needed? We don't hear of lawyers persuading their clients to engage in new crimes merely to foster loyalty to lawyers. The International Business Machines Company has not yet been caught urging the purchase of one of its giant computers merely to increase paper work as such. Life insurance salesmen don't go around selling policies on the ground that the president of the insurance company wants a raise in pay. And where is the politician who dares openly to tell the voters that they must support him merely because he has forgotten how to make a living in private industry?

The truth about the union movement is that its success is proved to the extent that it commands less and less interest—or less and less "loyalty," if anyone wants to put it that way. The supreme compliment to Walter Reuther would be to have him work himself out of his job. When the worker is getting his fair share of productivity increases out of a corporation, and when he is cut in on the profits to the extent of his value to the company as compared to the value of a shareholder's investment, the role of the union bargaining agent must tend to become routine.

It is a heartening sign, then, that the U.A.W. leadership finds the "loyalty" of the rank and file waning. This can only mean that automobile workers have used their agents as agents are intended by nature to be used, as go-betweens in winning a case or performing a service. To the extent that the automobile worker now feels his primary loyalty is to the going concern of a Ford or a Chrysler company, Walter Reuther has succeeded in his life work.

The real mystery of U.A.W. leadership complaint about the waning "loyalty" of auto workers to the union is that it should be sponsored by something called the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions. Is it "democratic" to exalt means at the expense of ends? And should the Fund for the Republic be put in the position of paying the bills for spreading the disease of "means-itis". Does the Fund for the Republic claim that the dinosaur was right in hanging on to muscles that had lost their relationship to the ends of sustaining life?

The DOCTOR SAYS

Doctor Explains Meaning of 'High Blood Pressure'

To some persons this may be the atomic age or the space age. To others, it is the hypertensive age.

Hypertension (high blood pressure) is increasing, not only in prevalence but also in the number of factors that seem to produce it, or to be closely associated with it.

Certain tumors of the glands of internal secretion, hardening of the arteries, kidney disease, some kinds of brain tumor, and the toxemias that complicate pregnancy (eclampsia, etc.) may cause it. But in the majority of persons whose blood pressure is high, the cause is unknown.

It is a mistake to assume that a high blood pressure reading indicates heart disease or a poor outlook for the future. A little exertion, a little excitement, or a mild feeling of uneasiness or apprehension will usually send the pressure way above the arbitrary normal.

That is why, when your doctor gets a high reading, he is likely to have you rest for a few minutes.

Then, when he takes it again, it will often be found to have returned to normal, or at least to have come down to a lower level.

It has become a popular saying among doctors that the best way to lower your blood pressure is to take it again. When your doctor takes your pressure he will always record two readings.

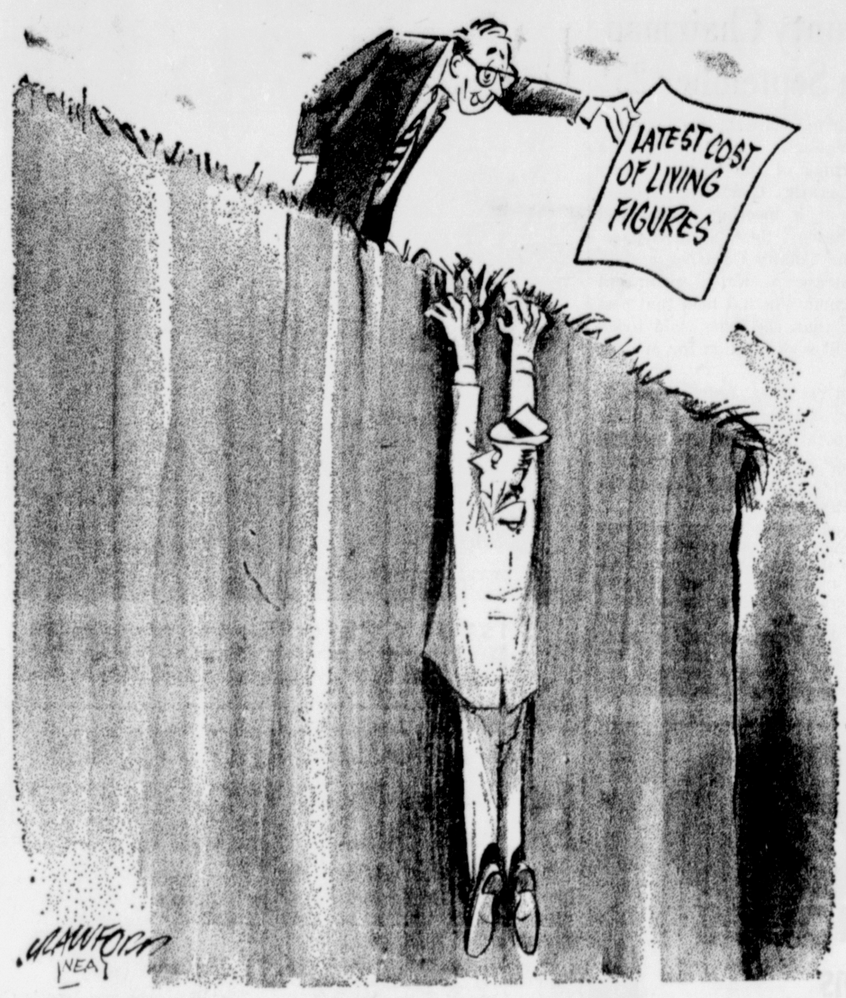

The upper level, the systolic pressure, is that which results from the powerful thrust of blood into your arteries when your heart contracts. The lower level, the diastolic pressure, is the level to which the pressure falls just before the next heartbeat.

The systolic pressure is much less stable than the diastolic. Systolic pressure shoots up rapidly with work or excitement and comes down just as rapidly with rest or a return of calm. The diastolic pressure is much more stable and therefore more important. When it goes up, it usually stays up, and when it stays up this may be a warning that serious hypertension will develop in time.

Many persons whose blood pressure does not come down after a rest are still able to lead active lives and survive to a ripe old age, but because in others the hypertension is progressive and may lead to an early death from malignant hypertension, the insurance companies have no choice but to raise the premiums on all persons with a high or even an unstable blood pressure.

In addition to the factors already mentioned, heredity may play a part in high blood pressure. Obesity is surely a factor, and the pressure normally increases somewhat with age. Women show greater tendency to high blood pressure than men, but they seem to tolerate it more readily.

"Guess What! You're Almost Holding Your Own!"

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Nearly all of the political issues before the U.N. General Assembly this year are holdovers.

Thirteen years after the United Nations tackled its first peacekeeping operation in Korea, it is still on the agenda with no better propects for solution.

In the past, Soviet Russia has proposed that North and South Korean representatives be summoned to New York to give the Assembly both sides of the problem.

Two years ago the United States agreed that North Koreans might come if they would agree to accept U.N. decisions on their country's future. They didn't come. The same condition was offered last year.

Perhaps the greatest contribution to Korean stability that can be made this year would be for South Korea's young military leader Park Chung Hee to allow democratic elections for the presidency, scheduled for Oct. 15. This would silence North Korea's carping against the South Korean dictatorship.

By surpressing minorities and jailing his principal opponents for the presidency, Gen Park has shown his determination to hang onto power, regardless of consequences.

THE CONGO IS PROBABLY the most important issue before General Assembly again this year. Secretary General U Thant would like to close out the U.N. Congo missions by the end of the year for lack of money to finance them.

So far, the Congolese leaders have refrained from trying to carve each other up. Premier Cyrille Adoula is still regarded as the most competent man on the scene, but the country is faced with ruinous inflation and needs help.

The Belgian position on the Congo has changed completely. For two years Brussels opposed the U.N. and all its works. Now, most of the Europeans back in the Congo advising the new government are Belgians. They want the U.N. to stay till the country and its economy are more stabilized.

CONTINUATION OF THE U.N. Emergency Force of 5,000 men to observe the armistice between Israel and her Near East neighbors is another financial problem.

Costs of this operation since 1957 have been $112 million. But only $76 million has been paid up and the operation is $36 million in the red.

The murder of two Israeli farmers near the Syrian border became a recent Security Council issue, to emphasize the importance of the UNEF role. Magnifying these small incidents into international crises is said to deter their recurrence.

Presence of the UNEF in the Near East made possible the sending of a 200-man detachment into Yemen when revolt broke out there a year ago. The U.N. assignment has been to effect a disengagement between Egyptian and Saudi Arabian forces supporting rival Yemini factions. The two countries have agreed to meet. UNEF costs for two months more, though both are working against it on the ground. It is a tough problem for the U.N.

FIFTY AFRO-ASIAN COUNTRIES are demanding that the Viet Nam situation be aired in the General Assembly. Presence in the United States of Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu, sister-in-law of Viet Nam's President Diem, while the General Assembly is in session adds a complicating factor to the debate.

The United States is trying to have the Viet Nam situation presented as a poltical issue, not as a matter of persecution of the Buddhists, which Ceylon and other countries want to make it.

Up to now there is no indication that Fidel Castro's government, with Communist bloc backing, will launch the customary tirade against the United States on "aggression" against Cuba.

Other international political disputes and threats to peace in the shadows of the General Assembly agenda include the India-Pakistan dispute over Kashmir, India's charges of aggression by Red China and the Laos situation.

Would Be Fitting to Mourn All Victims of Race Strife

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy has been asked by members of Congress to proclaim soon a day of mourning for the four Negro children killed in the bombing of a church in Birmingham last Sunday. This is a step that would emphasize the nation's profound regret that such a tragedy could have happened.

It would, however, be fitting if the President also asked the American people to mourn for all the victims—white and Negro—who have died as a result of racial disturbances in recent months.

The records show that, in the space of a few months, deaths of four whites as well as nine Negroes, or a total of 13 persons, have occurred. As yet, no one has been convicted in any of these cases.

There have been 21 bombings in Birmingham alone in the past eight years, but the one last Sunday was the first in which anyone was killed. This has given rise to the theory that the dynamiting was intended primarily to terroize, because in every church bombing, except the last the bombs exploded either before or after services. A news dispatch from Birmingham says that some white leaders have accused Negroes of being responsible for the bombings to gain national attention for their cause.

But thus far the American people have no way to fix the responsibility for these bombings. There has been a lot of loose talk—some of it bordering on libel — mentioning certain public officials as "responsible" for the murder of children at the Birmingham church.

The killings in recent months have occurred under differing circumstances but usually in connection with demonstrations or riots, thus raising the question as to whether public demonstrations under highly emotional circumstances are really useful. Protests at public meetings gain publicity just the same as street demonstrations, but it is the latter which become provocative because there are still many citizens who do not understand the right of petition and resent the expression of views with which they don't agree.

But, in order to introduce a spirit of mutual understanding and in the hope that the processes of reason will be substituted for violence and threats of violence, a day of mourning proclaimed nationally by the President could have constructive results. Every family—both white and Negro—which has suffered a loss deserves the sympathy and compassion of the nation. In the news dispatches for the last 12 months, the following deaths have been noted:

Whites

Sept. 30, 1962—French newsman Paul Guihard and television repairman Walter R. Gunter, of Oxford, Miss., slain during riot that accompanied the enrollment of Negro James Meredith at the University of Mississippi. Unsolved.

April 23, 1963 — Baltimore postman William L. Moore shot to death near Gadsden, Ala., while staging a one-man "freedom walk" to deliver letter to Gov. Barnett of Mississippi, urging racial moderation. The Etowah County Grand Jury refused on Sept. 13 to indict Floyd L. Simpson, 40, arrested in connection with the crime two days after Mr. Moore was killed.

June 6, 1963—Fred Link, 24, automobile mechanic, killed by a rifle bulet fired into a crowd of whites during a riot at Lexington, N. C. Three Negroes have been charged with his death.

Negroes

June 13, 1963—Civil rights leader Medgar Evers, 37, shot from ambush in driveway of home at Jackson, Miss. A white man, Byron Beckwith, has been charged, and is being held in jail.

Aug. 10, 1963—Serina Taylor, 14, killed at Jersey City, N. J., by a shotgun blast fired by white man. One white charged with murder, a second with assault with intent to kill. Incident grew out of earlier dispute between seven or eight whites and a group of Negro youths, and about half-hour later two of the whites returned to scene in a car and fired shotguns at random. Girl killed as she stood on steps of house talking to friends.

Sept. 4, 1963—John D. Coley, 20, killed by bullet in the neck during rioting that broke out in Birmingham after home of Negro attorney Arthur Shores was bombed for second time in two weeks. Not determined who fired bullet that killed him.

Sept. 15, 1963—Four Negro girls—Cynthia Wesley, 14, Denise McNair, 11, Carol Robertson, 14, Addie Mae Collins, 14—killed by bomb blast in 16th Street Baptist Church in Birmingham. Johnny Robinson, 16, died from shotgun wound inflicted by a policeman when he ignored police orders to stop throwing rocks at whites' cars during the disorder that followed church bombing. Virgil Wade, 13, was killed while riding bicycle just outside Birmingham, and two white youths charged with the shooting—Michael Lee Farley, 16, and Larry Joe Simms, 16 — signed statements admitting firing the shots.

In addition to the above, Dennis Earl Robinson, 16, white, is still in a critical condition in a Birmingham hospital. He was hit by a rock thrown by a Negro boy in the violence that followed the bombing on Sept. 15.

There have also been many whites and Negroes injured during these disorders—but not critically. All these victims might well be remembered on the day of mourning proclaimed by the President.

DO YOU REMEMBER

I cannot imagine our main shopping center uptown, without that big store at the head of North Front Street, now housing Montgomery Ward, empty I went through it today, and the place is full of stock. It lit up the street in the evening with attractive show windows, but now they are covered with paper signs. Grant's store has also changed on Wall Street. The shelves seems to have been removed and there are sales on on the floor.

I understand with Urban Renewal plans, they hope to make Wall Street a pedestrian Mall, "and existing stores will be helped toward greater efficiency and better locks. Historic buildings will remain, recalling the best of old Kingston." They show a before and after pictures in a UR pamphlet I have before me. They even show trees in the middle of the street and a fountain playing.

In the olden days, when the trolley cars were running, we often said to friends, "Let's go uptown." It was a place to go. Sometimes we took in a movie, or before that went to the Opera House live shows. Then we went to Candyland perhaps for a fancy-named sundae, or to Nekos for homemade candy. It was a place to go and meet old friends. Dollar days, bargain days, white sales etc., would bring folks from all over the county, after the advertisements appeared in the local newspapers. Folks even came from Rhinecliff and other places, when they could use the Big Ferry, as we called it, when it crossed the Hudson. The Skillyput brought folks over from Sleightsburgh, Port Ewen, Connelly, Esopus,. Many stopped downtown, perhaps went to the Lyric movie on the Strand, and did some buying down there. They all had to come into Kingston, now they do not.

I was talking to Max Mones the other day, and we got talking about the old taxi business, in the days when the Hudson River froze and the Big Ferry had to stop running. It is difficult to believe now, but in those days, men like Max Mones and Morris Miller used to take their cab right over the frozen ice. Mr. Mones, remembers, when he was driving right in back of Mr. Morris Miller and the Miller's cab went down on thin ice. Mr. Mones said, seeing what happened he started backing up, and so saved himself. I know Mr. Miller got out, and will get details at another time.

In those days, the private cabs met the trains on the other side of the river in winter when the Big Ferry could not make it. Otherwise they were down here on Ferry Street. The private cabs also met the Dayline boats, and the West Shore trains. Many had fleets of excellent cars, like the late Feldmans, Harry, Nathan and Sam, who just died. In those days, famous men, like Mr. Brisbane and others would cross the ferry, and they had their favorite tax men. Politeness was the key-word for such service, and as a rule only one passenger was taken on short Kingston trips.

Mr. Mones told me, when New Yorkers coming to the mountains would get off the Day Line or Big Ferry and several wanted a cab to Pine Hill or other places, arrangements were made with one taxi owner, so the passengers would get a reasonable rate. I remember in the days of Max Schmeling, the boxer, when he stayed at Greenkill Park, many famous people of the sport world would go there, and the late Sam Feldman usually took them. Once in a while he took me to see the training of the famous boxer, and Joe Jacobs would stand there with his checkered cap, and big cigar, his manager, as I remember. Everyone knew and liked the late Sam Feldman as a friend.

New Paltz Area Methodist Notes

Human Rights Rally

Methodists from more than 1,000 churches in the New York Area will attend a human rights rally Sept. 29 at 4 p. m. at the New York Hilton Hotel at Rockefeller Center, 54th Street and Avenue of the Americas, New York City. A delegation from the New Paltz Parish will be attending.

Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke has summoned every church under his jurisdiction to participate for four purposes: To stress the Methodist stand on race, to review action taken to advance racial integration, to express public support of civil rights legislation, and to urge action for integration in local churches and communities.

The program will include addresses by New York Senators Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating, and Representative Emanuel Celler who will explain the President's civil rights program. Bishop Wicke will give the principal address.

Local attendance arrangements are being handled by the New Paltz Methodis Church's Commission on Christian Social Concerns.

Kingdomtide Service

Services this coming Sunday will be held in the three churches of the New Paltz Methodist Parish as follows: New Paltz church 8:30 and 11 a. m.; Lloyd Church, 9:30 a. m.; and the Plutarch Church 2:00 p. m. Preaching at these services will be the Rev. Willett Porter, minister, and Myron Ronk, local preacher and assistant to the minister. The New Paltz senior choir will sing at 11 a. m. Nursery care, junior church program and a kindergarten-primary Sunday school class are also offered at 11 a. m.

Social Evening

The invitation is extended to members of the community and local churches to join with members of the migrant community and their children in a social evening to be held in the New Paltz Methodist Church Social Hall Friday 8 p. m. There will be group singing, cartoons for the children, social hour and refreshments. It will be a "come as you are" program. Arrangements are being handled by the local church's commission on Christian social concerns.

MYF Programs

A member of Junior High and Senior High young people participated in last Sunday's Methodist Youth Fellowship programs in the New Paltz Church. The Junior High MYF, under the advisorship of John Simmons and the Rev. Mr. Porter, will meet again next Sunday in the Education Wing at 7 p. m. The senior high MYF, under the advisorship of Fred and Jeannette Sutter, will next meet Sunday, Sept. 29 at 7 p. m., also in the Education Wing. Young people interested in these two youth groups may attend one of the meetings.

Quarterly Conference

A special quarterly conference has been called by the official board of New Paltz Methodist Church, Monday 8 p. m. in the local church's Fellowship Room. The Rev. Douglas Verdin, district superintendent, will preside. The purpose of this meeting is to make such decisions as may be deemed advisable in the refinancing of indebtedness on the Education Wing. Also, at this meeting, the 1964 Budget, prepared by the commission on stewardship and finance, will be voted on.

New Members

New members will next be received into the fellowship of the three churches of the New Paltz Methodist Parish Sunday, Sept. 29. Letters of transfer are now being secured and those joining of faith are undergoing training.

Rummage Sale

The annual fall rummage sale sponsored by New Paltz Methodist Church will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 17, 18 and 19, in the social hall of the local church. Mrs. Irving Dederick and Mrs. Edward Morrison are the co-chairmen of this event. Donations of articles for the sale may be left now in the vestibule of the Grove Street entrance of the church.

Community Survey Planned In Woodstock by Jaycees

The Woodstock Junior Chamber of Commerce has announced it will distribute 1,000 copies of a three-page Community Development Survey to area residents this month. The Jaycees are trying to find out what the residents think we have, need, want, don't want, don't need, could have and should have, an announcement said today.

The three-page questionnaire covers material from governmental services to schools and recreational facilities. The Jaycees will distribute the survey with self addressed stamped envelopes. Once the survey has been completed and the results have been compiled the Jaycees will use the survey to plan future projects.

In addition to the Community Development Survey the Jaycees in Woodstock will host a Mid-Hudson Regional meeting on Sunday, Oct. 6. Woodstock members will welcome Jaycees from Kingston, Saugerties, Hudson, Coxsackie, Catskill and New Paltz.

4-Point Program

President Joseph Griffo has announced a four point program for this year's activites: A) Youth Social and Physical Development; B) Local Government Participation; C) The Community Development Program; and D) The Internal Membership SPOKE Program. Young men between the ages of 21 and 35 who are interested in the Jaycees can obtain more information by contacting Publicity Director Tom Mannix, 31 Overlook Drive in Woodstock.

The resurgence of the Jaycees began a couple of winters ago under the direction of then President Pete Rakov. Earlier this year Rakov turned the reins of leadership over to Joe Griffo who continued to develop long range goals. The membership has doubled in the last 12 months. During the summer Jaycees conducted a highly successful Seat Belt Campaign and sponsored the Hunt Brothers Circus.

Rotron Exhibit Is Huge Success

The Guild Cinema was "standing room only" last week when Rotron exhibited its cooling devices and metering equipment and showed their film 'Rotron in Woodstock." Fifty basic products were exhibited in an award-winning Products Display, and the manufacturing and sales staffs demonstrated and explained products to the guests.

In his welcoming address, J. Constant van Rijn, Rotron's president, described Rotron's growth since 1947. He noted that Rotron began with two employees and now has about 500. All production is done at three local plants and at a foreign affiliate's in England, and annual sales now approach 10 million dollars. van Rijn reported that Rotron's cooling devices are used in aircraft, missiles, computers and all types of communication equipment, including TV sets and stereo components. The company's flowmeters and related equipment are installed at pipelines, refineries and chemical plants.

Observing that Rotron's growth has had a considerable effect on Woodstock's economy, van Rijn stated that Rotron employees' annual wages total about $3,350,000. The company spends an additional $950,000 annually in the area for materials and services.

Introducing the "Rotron in Woodstock" film, van Rijn remarked: "The filmmaker, Jim Trainor, was left free to record what he thought was interesting and vital from the human point of view. As you will see, his main theme became the integration of this little industry into the community and into the beautiful landscape of our Catskill Mountains."

Transportation Woes for Board

Onteora Board of Education approved requests for three additional transportation contracts and heard strong protests from two groups at its monthly meeting this week.

It granted a request for transportation for one child from its home in Samsonville to the main bus line. The distance involved is 1.3 miles, with reverse run in afternoon. Les Barringer is the driver and the contract is to continue as long as necessary during the 1963-64 school year. Cost of contract, $899.

Transportation was granted for one child from its home in Olivera to the main bus line, a distance of 2.4, with no reverse run Kenneth Herdman is the driver and the cost to the district, $500. Another contract is for a child from Mead Mountain Road to main bus line, distance of 1.3 miles, no reverse run; Carol Miller, driver, cost, $350.

Parents Protest

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Monteleone of Shokan appeared before the board to request transportation for their three children on the Bostock Road. The children now travel nine-tenths of a mile. The Monteleones asked the board to waive its current "one-mile-rule" because of dangerous road conditions, particularly in the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Sal Giordano of Route 28 protested to the board the long distance their child must travel every day from the pickup point to the school. Giordano protested the circuitous route taken by the bus and said the child had to ride the bus for an intolerable length of time every day.

Board members directed all inquiries to Watson I. Goodrich, transportation director. After a lively discussion on both issues, the matters were taken under advisement by the board.

Fire Company's Drive Success

Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 heard an excellent report from Lt. Peter Koehn on the recent campaign for funds in the fire district.

Koehn told the September meeting of the company that the drive was a huge success. He said he wished on behalf of himself and the members of the company to thank the people of the district for their generous response to the appeal.

Koehn also stated that this showing of appreciation and support by the people would be an added incentive for the members to continue their best efforts and service to the community. He said that persons who might have been overlooked in the drive because of pure oversight could still make contributions to the campaign fund. Contributions may be adressed to Woodstock Fire Company No. 1.

Fire Prevention Contest

Fire captain Duncan Wilson reported progress on the Fire Prevention Week poster contest for the children of the Woodstock school.

It was reported that 100 persons attended the annual picnic of the company held on the grounds on Mountain Pals camp on Sept. 8.

In the absence of Fire Chief George Haythorne who is on vacation, the meeting was chaired by First Assistant Chief Milton Combs. He reported four alarms during the month of August — two building fires, one tar fire and one emergency call to wash gasoline from a road following an accident.

Auxiliary Talks Of Mobilization

A discussion of the initial use of the new Mobilization Plan and plans for the covered dish supper at the firehouse on October 19 will be on the agenda of the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Woodstock Fire Co. No. 3 scheduled for the firehouse in Lake Hill on Tuesday evening, September 24, at 8 p. m.

All members of the Ladies' Auxiliary are urged to attend this meeting. Memberships in the auxiliary are now open, and the year's dues are being collected.

The Mobilization Plan, placed in use to alert firemen who cannot hear the firehouse siren when sounded, was inaugurated Sunday at a fire drill. The results were good, according to an auxiliary spokesman.

The covered dish supper is sponsored by the members of the Auxiliary for the benefit of the families of all active members of the fire company and the auxiliary. "It is not a public affair nor a money raising proposition," said an auxiliary officer, "just a general get-together for those who have actively participated in fire company affairs during the year."

Meeting to Form Boy Scouts Set

Monday evening September 23, at 7:30 p. m. is the date for a parent's meeting at the firehouse in Lake Hill for the purpose of organizing a Boy Scout troop for the communities of Willow-Lake Hill-Shady. All interested parents who have sons between the ages of 11 and 16, or whose boys will soon become of age, are invited to attend this meeting.

Woodstock Fire Co. No. 3 has indicated that it will sponsor a Boy Scout troop as a service to the community. A committee of four firemen have been selected to aid in the formation of a troop, and District Scout Executive Kenneth Malchow of the Rip Van Winkle Council Boy Scouts of America will be present at the Monday evening meeting to answer all questions and explain the advantages of a boy scout troop in a community. The fire company will afford a meeting place for the troop and will back organization.

Fireman Arthur Smith, chairman of the fire company committee, stated that all interested parents are urged to come to the Monday meeting. "There is no obligation," said Smith, "just an opportunity to give your boy access to the fun and fellowship offered by the Boy Scouts of America."

Rotron employes share 25 per cent of the company's profits before taxes. Three profit sharing payments already have been made during the year, the final sum distributed on Monday among the employes was $164,730.

In a release to the company's stockholders last week, it was announced that consolidated sales were $9,278,991 and net income $447,183 for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1963.

Regular fire drills are held each month—on the second Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m. and the last Wednesday evening at 8 p. m. Anglo Embassy Is Burned Out by Indonesian Mob

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesian demonstrators protesting creation of anti-Communist Malaysia looted and set fire to the British Embassy and attacked homes of embassy personnel today. The three-story embassy was left a burned out shell.

Indonesian troops were reported moving tonight to quell the rioting, the most savage in a three-day outburst of mob violence directed against the new federation, created Monday with Britain's backing from four former British colonies.

Flag Ripped, Burned

U.S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones said he received official word that the Jakarta garrison had been instructed by the government to take over responsibility for quelling the outbreak. Jones said he had heard that the troops were ordered to points throughout the city.

The British flag was ripped from its staff, torn and burned.

Flames broke out of a third floor balcony window in the modern, three-story chancery building and spread throughout the top floor before they subsided.

Rioters from a mob estimated at 10,000 methodically began sacking the building, tossing out papers and furniture.

Five cars were set afire—three inside the embassy compound and two outside—and the odor of burning rubber filled the air.

In London, Foreign Secretary Lord Home summoned Indonesian Ambassador Burhanudin Mopamad Diah and demanded that the Indonesian government immediately stop "such uncivilized behavior."

In Kuala Lumpur, capital of Malaysia, the government announced it was putting the country in "a state of preparedness" because of hostility from Indonesia and the Philippines.

Staff Unharmed

Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio, pausing in Manila on a flight from Jakarta to the United Nations in New York, told newsmen "things look very difficult."

British sources said Ambassador Andrew Gilchrist and his staff were safe and unharmed. At one time about 20 armed troopers with bared bayonets concentrated on collecting a dozen of the British Embassy personnel and rushed them to safety in one corner of the compound as the mob swept by.

The Federation of Malaysia is a union of four former British colonies — Malaya, Singapore, Sarawak, and North Borneo.

President Sukarno of Indonesia, who is believed to have designs on Malaysia's Borneo states, has denounced the new nation as a British plot to prolong colonialism and encircle Indonesia.

Abusing Child Charge Dropped In Auto Death

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Lee O. Saunders, 23, who spent a year in a state hospital for the criminal insane, has pleaded guilty to a charge of criminal negligence in the automobile death of a four-year-old girl he is accused of having molested.

A charge that Saunders carnally abused the victim, Lori Sue Cook, was dropped in Onondaga County Court Tuesday. County Judge Ormand Gale set Oct. 8 for sentencing.

Saunders, a carpenter and a former clerk in a Syracuse department store, was accused of molesting the girl near her home on the Onondaga Indian Reservation and of running her down with a car as he attempted to drive away. The incident occurred April 9, 1962.

Previously, Saunders had pleaded innocent to both charges.

He was returned here in July after officials at Matteawan State Hospital at Beacon reported he was capable of standing trial. He had been committed there last year on the basis of two psychiatric tests.

New Ellenville Burglary Probed

Ellenville Village police today investigated another in a rash of burglaries that have occurred in business establishments in that community in the last week.

Sergeant Leo Gorton said early this afternoon that Miller's Appliance Store, 91 Center Street, had been entered sometime during the night but it had not been determined what loot was taken.

Sergeant Gorton said that last week Miller's Appliance store on North Main Street had been entered through a rear window. Taken at that time by intruders were two spray guns, three sanders, a Black and Decker grinder, a quarter inch drill and five gallons of paint, lacquer and thinner.

Tuesday night or early Wednesday, burglars entered the Terminal Diner on Main Street and rifled a juke box and cigaret machine of contents. The Busy Bee Bar and Grill on Canal Street also was entered and a small amount of cash taken.

But, They're Harder to Live With

When Smokers Kick Habit They Enhance Taste, Pep, Savings

(Editor's Note: An experimental clinic to develop a technique to help smokers quit has been under way for a week. Sixty men are participating, among them AP Staff Writer Michael Keating. Here is his second report.)

By MICHAEL KEATING
Associated Press Staff Writer

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — When smokers stop smoking they feel better, taste more acutely, discover what the world smells like, have more pep and money—and are harder to live with.

They also are inclined toward being insufferably "holier than thou."

That has been my experience after a tense, smokeless week. Fellow abstainers report the same changes, with personal variations. One man is ecstatic over the way bananas taste.

We are among 60 men participating in the "smoking withdrawal research clinic" at Roswell Park Memorial Institute, New York State's cancer research center.

The institute is testing a simple technique, using drugs and psychology, to help men and women who want to quit smoking but have difficulty.

The clinic has three more weeks to go. But after only one week, Roswell Park doctors are optimistic of successs.

This week, at our second and final group session, 27 of us held up our hands when Dr. Charles A. Ross asked:

"How many quit smoking completely?"

Another 11 responded when Ross asked how many were smoking 25 per cent or less of their previous consumption.

The only smoke in the auditorium where we met came from the cigar in the mouth of a telvision cameraman, there to record the group, not join it.

Only 45 of the 60 participants attended. So the show of hands indicated that 7 still were smoking fairly heavily and 15 others were unaccounted for. The 15 will be checked later this week.

Dr. Ross, director of the clinic, wore a proud smile. "Very promising," he said. If one-third of the group remains off cigarettes for six months, Ross will regard the technique as successful.

Roswell Park will assist in the development of similar clinics around the country.

After the meeting, I sat down with a nine-man cross-section of the group and we talked about ourselves and smoking.

Six reported they had stopped smoking completely and felt they had the problem licked. This included me.

Melvin Greenberg was down to 5 cigarettes daily, compared with 30 before the clinic. Harold R. Newkirk smoked 4¼ packs in his first seven days, down three quarters.

We were agreed on the value of the lobeline pills and lozenges we were taking. Lobeline is a synthetic drug that stimulates the body as nicotine does. We found that the drug diminished our craving for cigarettes.

"I've got a lot of faith in that pill," said Matthew Luterek, who has tried to quit before. He has not smoked since the first day. He is the man who likes bananas.

All nodded agreement with Newkirk's report that:

"I wake up in the morning bright-eyed."

"But short-tempered," added another.

"Absolutely," everyone agreed.

Several remarked how "superior" they now felt to smokers.

Only Fred Bowler could say that the desire to smoke had left him. The rest of us had varying degrees of yearning.

Newkirk is the most troubled, leading the rest of us to suspect that he might have imitation pills. Half of the 60 participants were given fake pills so that their reactions could be compared with the others. Only the clinic staff knows who has which pills.

Newkirk is an ice-cream salesman who attends daily sales meetings. Everybody smokes there. "I break down in those sales meetings every day," he said.

Two reported that their most strenuous test came on the golf course. That's where they usually smoke most.

Tomshaws' Art Is On Display at 1st Federal Loan

The current art display at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Kingston is a "family affair."

Painting hobbyists Miss Posy Tomshaw and her nephew, 16-year-old Tiber Tomshaw, have paintings featured at the institution's main office at 235 Fair Street.

Miss Tomshaw, of 623 Delaware Avenue, took up painting five years ago under the Rev. Albert H. Shultis and has done 15 pictures. She enjoys it purely as a hobby. Her scene of "Glenerie Falls" was painted from a series of six snapshots taken after a heavy storm in 1959.

Another painting, entitled "Budweiser Dogs," was made from the famous advertisement.

Young Tiber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tiber Tomshaw of 187 Henry Street, has a work entitled "Mountain Stream" on exhibit in the institution's lobby. This is only the second picture Tiber attempted since he took up the hobby at 13. He presented the work to his grandmother who accepted it with pride. With high school, baseball and other sports in season, he doesn't have much time to pursue his hobby.

Soviet Cautions Peking

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union today cautioned Red China that good neighborly relations depend on respect for borders. It made clear Moscow will not side with Peking in any Chinese conflict with India.

The apparent reference to reported tensions on the Soviet editorial in the Communist party organ Pravda, assailing the Chinese attitude in its border dispute with India. The editorial reproached Peking for refusing to negotiate a settlement with India.

Search Called Off

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force today called off a search for the United States' first winged spacecraft, which apparently sank in the Atlantic Ocean.

Officials decided after studying reports from Wednesday's 19-hour hunt that possibility of finding the 1,100-pound payload was remote.

Mahoney Vows Study, Claims Record Clear

MAHONEY VOWS HD.. .. ..

NEW YORK (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney says he will move for an examination of the state's code of ethics to see if there are any loopholes that should be plugged.

The Buffalo Republican says he and Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino, Long Beach Republican, will ask the Legislature's committees on ethics to poll citizen, civic and professional groups for their ideas on possible strengthening of the code.

Mahoney made the statement Wednesday as he declared his record is clear in his dealings with a small loan company whose financial operations are under investigation by the office of Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan.

The possibility of conflict of interest was raised recently as the aftermath of a series of stories in the New York Herald Tribune which revealed private business activities by Mahoney.

Mahoney—on his own initiative—went to Hogan's office Wednesday and told two assistant district attorneys the details of his relationship with the Neighborhood Finance Co. Later, he held an hour-long news conference and answered all questions.

A low bid of $31,367.55 was opened in Albany Wednesday for planting work in the area south of Buildings 8, 9 and 20, State University College, New Paltz.

Of four bids submitted, Newburgh Nursery, Inc., Newburgh, offered the lowest bid.

Low bids totaling $1,495,065.55 on 17 projects for construction, repairs and alterations to state-owned facilities were included.

B of E, Architect To Review Bids on Mt. Marion Plans

Saugerties Board of Education and the school architect will discuss the recently opened bids for a five classroom addition to Mt. Marion Elementary School, at a special meeting Tuesday 8 p. m. at the school administration building, Hill Street.

Bids opened Monday for the five classroom and library addition were slightly above the architect's estimate. Total base bids for the work totaled $149,384.

Included in the plans were two different types of heating plans. The alternates will be studied by the board and Architect Albert E. Milliken before arriving at a determination.

There were eight bids submitted for general construction, three for plumbing and heating and four for electrical work.

The three low bidders for general construction were: Colonial Construction Company, Kingston, $100,284. Slover, Jansen and Schline, Kingston, $103,042. Axel Johansen, Stone Ridge, $104,363.

The two low bidders for plumbing were R. J. Welsh and Son, Saugerties, $9,990. C. B. Strain and Son, Inc. of Poughkeepsie, $10,300.

R. J. Welsh & Son, Saugerties, was low bidder for heating and ventilating with a bid of $38,495 and Bank Brothers of Accord was second with a bid of $39,180.

Papa Dionne Upset

CALLANDER, Ont. (AP)—The father of the Dionne quintuplets said today his famous daughters' story about a hard and unhappy childhood is untrue.

"There are two sides to every story and Mrs. Dionne and I have ours," said Oliva Dionne in an interview in the rambling farm house the family lived in before the quints were born. The mansion where the five sisters grew up was sold in 1957, and th parents moved back to the homestead.

He expressed dismay over the publication of a magazine article in which the four surviving sisters said: "It was the saddest home we ever knew."

Favor Channel Tunnel

LONDON (AP) — A group of British and French experts today recommended their governments build a tunnel under the English Channel but warned that financing it may be difficult.

After a two-year study the British and French officials estimated the capital cost of a tunnel at 143 million pounds ($400,400,000.)

They rejected an alternate suggestion of a bridge, saying it would cost twice as much and would be a serious hazard to shipping.

Not in Vain: King

Assurances Given Parents of Slain Girls in South

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — "They did not die in vain," said Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. before grieving thousands buried three Negro girls killed in a bomb blast during Sunday school.

"God still has a way of bringing good out of evil," he assured the parents Wednesday. "The innocent blood of these little girls may well serve as a redemptive force for this city."

Denise McNair, 11, Addie Mae Collins and Cynthia Wesley, both 14, were buried a day following the funeral of the fourth victim of Sunday's unsolved bombing, Carole Robertson, 14.

Still to be buried, next Sunday, are two young Negro victims of violence that broke out a few hours after the bombing of the Sixteenth Street Baptist Church.

Police estimated that 4,000, including numerous white persons, went to the funeral although only about half that number could get inside the Sixth Avenue Baptist Church, across town from the church where the girls met their deaths while studying a lesson on "the love that forgives."

Two of the 23 persons injured when the bomb went off were still hospitalized, as was a 16-year-old white boy struck in the head by a brick.

FBI bomb experts and city and state authorities continued to seek clues leading to the person who placed the fatal bomb, while rewards for his capture climbed to $76,000.

Church Center For UN Will Be Dedicated Sunday

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, United Nations Secretary General U Thant, and Methodist Bishop F. Gerald Ensley head a roster of distinguished speakers slated to take part in ceremonies consecrating the new 12-story Church Center for the United Nations Sunday.

Built by The Methodist Church at a cost of $3 million and administered by the National Council of Churches, the Center will provide a "clasroom window" on the UN for churches and church members throughout the country and the world.

Others scheduled to appear in the service dedicating this unique venture in inter-church cooperation are: Adlai E. Stevenson, U. S. Ambassador to the United Nations; the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, stated clerk of the United Presbyterian Church in the USA; The Rev. O. Frederick Nolde, associate general secretary of the World Council of Churches; J. Irwin Miller, chairman of the Cummins Engine Corp. and president of the National Council of Churches, and the Most Rev. Metropolitan Germanos, chancellor of the Greek Orthodox Diocese of New York.

Roman Catholic and Jewish leaders will also take part in the 4 p. m. consecration service Sunday at the newly completed Church Center, 777 United Nations Plaza.

Atop the new Center is the Dag Hammarskjold Memorial Lounge. With a large stone fireplace, plate glass walls and surrounding outdoor terrace, it overlooks the Dag Hammarskjold Libraby across the Plaza inside the UN's international enclave.

Also on the 12th floor, the Walter Van Kirk Memorial Library will serve as a reference center for information on the United Nations and UN-related church work.

From each of the Center's 16 conference rooms, visitors will be able to tune in official UN debates at a flick of a switch via special pipeline and public address system—the only such line outside the UN except to member missions.

Overtrick Is Pick In Little Brown Jug

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Ten of America's premier harness racing horses, and one from Canada, were set to go after the second jewel of pacing's triple crown today—the Little Brown Jug.

Ideal weather and a crowd of 35,000 were in prospect.

Overtrick, 5-2 favorite on the early line, and Meadow Skipper, winner of the Cane Futurity—first of the triple—were rated the horses to watch in the classic for 3-year-olds. Canada's Country Don was rated at 3-1 along with Meadow Skipper.

The winner could be known anytime from midafternoon to near dusk. That's because the winner must prevail in two heats. If two heats produce two victors, a third heat ensues. If yet a third horse finishes in front, the three heat leaders stage a deciding raceoff.

Brazil Is Caught In Nightmare of Increasing Prices

By EDGAR MILLER

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Luis Prestes Pinheiro, an accountant, stopped at a fish market to buy some shrimp.

The price was 800 cruzeiros a kilogram—2.2 pounds. He found he had left his wallet at home and went back to get some money.

When he returned the price on shrimp had gone up to 1,000 cruzeiros a kilo.

Like Nightmare

To Pinheiro and millions of other Brazilians inflatior is a nightmarish spiral of increasing prices which make it more and more difficult to make ends meet on outdistanced salaries.

Living costs shot up 30.8 per cent in the first half of the year after rising 52.7 per cent in 1962, one of Brazil's worst inflation years. They are still going.

Heaping woe on the economic picture was a report from the semi-official Getulo Vargas Foundation that economic growth this year would be only 2.4 per cent while the population would increase 3.1 per cent. Population increasing faster than the national production spells trouble.

Brazil's budget deficit is expected to be from 600 billion to a trillion cruzeiros.

The cruzeiro, Brazil's monetary unit, smashed the 1,000 cruzeiros to the dollar barrier for the first time this nonth.

Brazil has a $25.5-million debt coming due in the United States next month and about $176 million in commercial bills coming up before the end of the year.

Never Got Started

Except for a few preliminary measures, the ambitious three-year plan to slow up inflation and stabilize the economy never got off the ground. Finance Minister Carlos Carvalho Pinto insists, however, that he still is working rigorously within the general framework of the plan in an effort to make some order in Brazil's fuzzy financial-economic household.

Carvalho Pinto is confident the government can increase its revenue through tax reforms and other measures he has instituted.

How well Brazil fills up its foreign debt holes and withstands snowballing inflationary pressure could be decisive for the nation's economic future.

As one foreign observer put it: "Brazil still is some distance from true economic chaos. But the distance is getting shorter every day."

Save the spicy stock, after cooking fresh strimp, and use in a fish soup or curry sauce for fish.

There's no need to consider physics and chemistry separately because the method of physics is the same as that of chemistry and their subject matter is the same. You might ask then, what difference is there between physics and chemistry?

As a matter of fact, there isn't any. Chemical reactions can now be understood in terms of molecular and atomic reactions. For instance, a common chemical reaction is when an acid and a base neutralize each other. We know from modern physics that electrons and protons are atomic particles that balance each other, that complement each other. When an atom has an equal number of electrons and protons, it's in balance, or it's stable. But the atoms of an acid have an excess of electrons, while a base has an excess of protons. When they neutralize each other, all that really happens is that the excess electrons in the acid balance with the excess protons in the base.

So actually the study of chemistry is just one branch of the larger science, physics. (It's still useful to retain the different names, however. For instance, it's useful to you when you pick your courses. For the purposes of this article, however, we'll use the word physics to include chemistry).

When you study physics, realize it is a science which attempts to explain the physical universe by constructing as few laws as possible. Ever since the ancient Greeks, scientists have been trying to find the one law that would explain everything that we observe. It's good to keep this in mind as you wade through a physics course. Although you may feel buried under a mountain of laws, if you think long enough, you'll see that they can all be understood in terms of a few basic concepts. Newton's view of the universe, for example, is based in the concepts of mass, velocity and force. If you always keep three concepts right in front of you when you study, say the, laws of motion, you'll have no trouble understanding why Newton formulated his laws as he did.

And if you get into the habit of trying to find the why behind each physical law, you'll have learned to get the most out of a physics course. Physics will be a lot less work, too, because it'll be interesting. Don't work up a sweat memorizing the formula for Boyle's Law; you'll just forget it anyway. Spend your sweat to understand what Boyle's law means, and you'll probably be able to figure out the formula. If you still want to memorize the formula, it'll be easy to memorize because it'll make sense.

Physics is a logical science, a building process. As a rule, you need to know everything in the first chapter before you can get much out of the second. So it's really foolish to let yourself fall too far behind your study schedule. It's not as easy to catch up as it is in some other subjects.

To sum up: Don't get confused by a pile of laws. Think about them, understand them and try to break down into a few simple concepts like mass, velocity and force. Don't memorize until you understand. That's usually fatal. (If you can't understand something, ask your teacher for help.) Keep up with the course; don't let your studying fall behind.

Ineligible Vote Evidence Found In Village Tally

NEW YORK (AP) — The City Board of Elections reports evidence that ineligible votes were cast in the balloting in Greenwhich Village in which former Tammany Hall leader Carmine G. DeSapio was beaten by a slim margin in his political comeback bid.

A board spokesman said Wednesday that a check showed evidence of ineligible votes in 14 elections districts in the area.

The 56 Republican and Democratic election district inspectors in the 14 districts have been summoned to a board hearing next Wednesday.

DeSapio is seeking a State Supreme Court order for a new election for Democratic leader of the assembly district in Greenwich Village. He charges fraud and irregularities in the voting Sept. 5, which was part of the statewide Democratic and Republican primary elections.

Reform Democrat Edward I. Koch has been declared the winner by 41 votes—4,656 to 4,615.

British Exodus On, Jakarta Apologizes

BEAUTY AND THE BOOTH—Styles in telephone booths seem to be as changeable these days as in fashions or cars. Airy booth above is newly installed at O'Hare International Airport, Chicago. Despite its open construction, its sound-treated materials shut out much outside noise and provide maximum privacy for callers.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Faced with a British break in diplomatic relations and prodded by Washington, Indonesia expressed regret today for the mob burning and looting of the British Embassy and other property.

Home Threatens Break

Strong forces of Indonesian troops appeared to have restored order in this capital after Wednesday's rampage by about 10,000 Indonesians protesting against the new, British-sponsored Federation of Malaysia. But in the uneasy calm, British women and children were preparing to quit Indonesia.

President Sukarno's government issued a conciliatory statement deploring the mob violence, worst demonstration ever staged here against a foreign power. British Foreign Secretary Lord Home had denounced "such uncivilized behavior" and threatened to sever diplomatic relations unless assured British subjects and property would be protected.

U. S. Notes Concern

The Indonesian government statement was issued after U.S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones called on Sukarno with a message from Secretary of State Dean Rusk expressing the U.S. government's concern over the rioting. Rusk voiced similar concern to Indonesian Ambassador Zairin Zain in Washington.

The Indonesian statement said the government "certainly does not approve" of mob action and blamed the outburst in part on "the destruction of the Indonesian Embassy in Kuala Lumpur (capital of Malaysia)."

That riot followed Monday's stoning of the British and Malaysian embassies in Jakarta.

JFK Confident

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has expressed confidence that the Senate will ratify the limited nuclear test ban treaty "by a margin large enough to show the world that the American people want a just peace."

Referring briefly to the treaty in his national radio and television address on tax legislation Wednesday night, Kennedy said the pact "is the first concrete limitation on the nuclear arms race since the bomb was first invented."

As the situation stands now in the Senate, Republican and Democratic leaders believe Kennedy will get his large margin.

Local Cancer Unit Gets $9,762 for Education, Work

A total of $9,762.25 has been allocated the Ulster County Unit of the American Cancer Society for its educational and service programs for the coming year, it was announced today by Attorney Richard W. Griggs, president of the local unit.

The grants were made by the New York State Division of the American Cancer Society after careful study by volunteer lay and medical members of its executive committee.

This is part of the $520,610.30 allocated by the Division throughout the 54 upstate counties.

American Cancer Society research grants at institutions and hospitals in the 54 upstate counties are made by a volunteer committee of prominent researchers and physicians of the national society.

Funds for all grants are raised during the annual Cancer Crusade, conducted by the New York State Division and its County Units during April, National Cancer Month.

Probes Launched Into Rail Tragedy

SALINAS, Calif. (AP)—Mounting investigations and outcries over Tuesday's railroad crossing crash which killed 28 Mexican migrant workers raised a question mark today over the status of the nation's bracero program.

As probes were pushed on both federal and state levels, Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Tex., called for defeat of a pending bill which would extend for one year the right to import Mexican laborers, or braceros, to do farm work.

"My witnesses are the dead and maimed," he said.

At Boulder, Colo., the migrant committee of the National Council of Churches said the crash, in which a freight train demolished a makeshift bus carrying 62 workers, underscored the need for more protective legislation.

"Such appalling accidents, which occur in every harvest season, should cause every American to take to heart the plight of one million migratory farm workers," stated a resolution passed by the committee.

Six of the more than 30 injured in California's worst vehicular accident in history remained near death.

Francisco Espinosa, 34, driver of the bus which was carried a half mile down the track while bodies tumbled on both sides, was in jail in felony manslaughter charges.

Federal and state investigators planned to question him further as to why, after stopping, he started across the tracks near Chualar eight miles south of Salinas, as the three-diesel freight bore down on the crossing.

Favors Waterway

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — Opponents of the proposed Lake Champlain waterway that would link the St. Lawrence and Hudson rivers had support today from a member of the Lake Champlain committee, a citizens organization.

Allen Child of Malone told a hearing Wednesday," It would be a folly to jeopardize shipping at the expense of the railroads, particularly at a time when taxes are rising anyway and the national debt is at an all-time high."

But Teno Ronclio, a U.S. member of the Joint Commission, quickly replied:

"Whether there is a national debt is of no consequence to this hearing."

Police Are Stoned By Negro Teeners At Michigan School

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—A mob of Negro teen-agers stoned police Wednesday as helmeted officers tried to prevnt racial violnce at a new $3-million high school in a predominantly white neighborhood.

Later, police fought with several of an estimated 100 to 150 Negro adults who congregated at a residential street corner. No injuries were reported in either incident.

Ten students, including a white girl, were arrested after th hour-long disturbance Wednesday afternoon. Seven white youths were picked up later and released after qustioning.

Four policemen were assaulted by a mob of Negro students which also hurled rocks at the patrolmen and at passing cars. Police Chief Roscoe Gray, who said his "show of force didn't work," dispersed about 18 Negro youths at one point with a fire extinguisher.

The president of the Jackson chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Harold White, asked Gov. George Romney to investigate.

Stamper Dies, Was Follies Composer

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)—Dave Stamper, who wrote the music for 21 editions of the Ziegfeld Follies between 1905 and 1932, is dead at 79.

Stamper, who moved here recently after living for many years at Freeport, Long Island, died Wednesday in St. Francis Hospital.

He was a native of New York City and composed scores for other Broadway musicals in addition to the Ziegfeld Follies.

Felt Sad With Family

Four Dionnes Tell of Guilt Feeling at Home With Parents

NEW YORK (AP)—When Papa Dionne got his millionaire daughters away from the crown and Dr. Allan Dafoe, he put them to work cleaning the bathrooms in the mansion he built with their money, the quints say in their autobiography.

"It was the saddest home we ever knew," they added.

The life story, as told to James Brough by the four remaining quintuplets — Annette, Yvonne, Marie and Cecile—appears in the current issue of McCall's magazine.

In it they tell how the secret of the fifth quintuplet's epilepsy (Emilie died after an attack in 1954) was carefully guarded because "the family considered her illness a shameful thing," and how the five little girls were made to feel set apart from the rest of the family, and filled with a sense of guilt.

Made to Feel Guilty

"If love begets love, guilt begets guilt," the 29-year-old quints said. "The air of the big house was thick with it. Mom and dad behaved toward each others as though they had been partners in some unspoken crime in bringing us into the world. We were drenched with a sense of having sinned from the hour of our birth."

The quints, who spent their first seven years in a special government-built and government-supervised nursery on the family farm at Callendar, Ontario, were "wards of his majesty" by an act of the Canadian Parliament and were cared for by a corps of nurses, teachers and guards superintended by Dr. Dafoe, the country doctor who had delivered them.

Unhappy at Home

They describe these early years as happy and carefree, but recall few pleasant memories of their life after they returned to the family — a victory for their father, Oliva Dionne, after a long legal battle against Dafoe.

"Dad wanted us and the quintuplet funds in his own exclusive custody," the sisters said. "In the beginning he needed money for the sake of the other children. But afterward, his fortunes improved, it made no difference. By then, it was a matter of self-esteem that he should win. We were such a prize."

Their Status Today

Today, three of the quints are married and mothers and the fourth, Yvonne, is in a convent.

Cecile, the wife of television technician Philippe Langlois, was the first of the quints to have a child. She now has three sons and a daughter. Two of the boys are twins.

Annette, whose husband, Germain Allard, is a finance company executive, has three sons, and Marie, wife of government clerk Florent Houle, has two daughters.

Lausche Opposes Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank Lausche, D-Ohio, previously counted as a supporter of the limited nuclear test ban treaty, told the Senate today he will vote against its ratification.

He said that the ban on all but underground testing of nuclear weapons could "create a condition that will bring Russia to a position of supremacy in power."

He added if that occurs, he has "great misgivings about what will happen to our country." He said that peace has been maintained only because of U.S. military might.

Men for Ministry Is Theme of Fall Methodist Parley

Methodist bishops will travel through the United States this fall in groups of three to address special sessions of annual conferences on the crucial role the church and home should be playing in recruiting qualified young persons for the ministry.

New York Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke has called special sessions of the conferences under his jurisdiction as follows: Troy Conference, Oct. 9 at First Methodist Church, Schenectady; New York and New York East Conferences, Oct. 10 at Memorial Methodist Church, White Plains; and Newark Conference, Oct. 11 at Drew University, Madison, N. J.

The bishops assigned to address these sessions are Bishop Edwin E. Voigt of Springfield, Ill., Bishop Everett W. Palmer of Seattle, Wash., and Bishop Edwin R. Garrison of Aberdeen, S. D. The bishops' mission has a three-fold purpose: to call attention to the crucial importance of the parish ministry, to lift the morale of pastors, and to lay the groundwork for cultivation of recruits to the ministry. Dr. Mack B. Stokes, professor of systematic theology at Emory University, will address each conference on Communicating the Nature of the Call to Modern Youth.

Each session will start at 9:30 a. m. with a worship service conducted by Bishop Wicke followed by the first address by one of the visiting bishops on The Challenge of the Parish Ministry. A second address on The Equipment for the Parish Ministry will be given after lunch and at 2 p. m. discussion groups will be held for ministers, ministers' wives and laymen.

The final address will be given at 3 p. m. on The Glory of the Parish Ministry.

NEWEST NATION—Joining the roster of the world's nations is Malaysia, a federation uniting independent Malaya and the British dependencies of Singapore, North Borneo and Sarawak (shown in black on Newsmap). Tiny, oil-rich sultanate of Brunei was to have joined the federation but balked at the last minute. The new nation has a population of 10 million (three-quarters of them in Malaya) and a total land area of 130,000 square miles (somewhat smaller than Montana) stretched across 1,600 miles between Thailandandthe Philippines. Kuala Lumpur is the capital.

Urged to Alert Congressmen on Needs of Library

Representative J. Ernest Wharton (R-28th District) has pledged aid to current legislation (H.R. 4879) for increased aid to public libraries, it was announced at this month's Board Meeting of Mid-Hudson Libraries. However, library system trustees urge letters from all area residents to strengthen Representative Wharton's hand in getting the Library Services and Construction Act out of the Rules Committee where it now is lodged.

The pending legislation, already approved by the House Education Committee, will increase federal aid from $7.5 million to $25 million; expand coverage to inadequately served areas and provide $20 million for public library construction.

"With the opening of school and increasing student use of libraries, we hardly need to call attention to the fact that more books are needed and more space in which to use them in all of our local libraries," said Mrs. Gerald Carson, president, Mid-Hudson Libraries. "Library patrons should realize that their letters to congressmen urging support of H.R. 4879 can help get better conditions in hometown libraries."

Call Is Sounded For Apple Pickers

Apple growers of the area are in dire need of apple pickers to harvest the crops, it was reported today. The Department of Laborer Employment, 18 Pine Grove Avenue, called for area residents to seek jobs to assist apple growers.

Approximately 150 orders for laborers have been received from fruit growers in Ulster County. It was reported there is a possibility that some crops might be in jeopardy if the crops are not harvested soon, not only because of the shortage of help but weather conditions are uncertain.

Thunder can be heard for a distance of about 15 miles.

Municipal Bonds Fine For Bank's Extra Cash

Q) "We are a conservative bank. A considerable increase in savings deposits under the present more generous rate structure has built up our cash position and made us decide to buy municipal bonds. Could you suggest one issue and tell us what the taxable equivalent yield would be in our 52 per cent bracket?"—R.L., Treasurer.

A) I believe your decision is a wise one. Banking institutions, over the past year, have been major purchasers of municipal bonds for reasons similar to your own.

Since you are a national bank, I know no restriction—beyond the general rule of prudence—as to what municipals you can buy. I suggest top quality, nevertheless, for I do believe in general that this will give you fewer worries and a higher degree of marketability.

I advise you to buy State of California (w. i.) 3.10's due 1986, offered to yield 3.10 per cent. These afford a taxable equivalent yield of 6.46 per cent in your bracket.

Q) "My broker has suggested that I buy Emhart Manufacturing. As I do not like stocks that are speculative, I would appreciate your opinion."—M.K.

A) I will be very much pleased to give it to you.

If you will allow me, I'm going to make a suggestion to you. Whenever your broker suggests a stock, ask him a few pertinent questions about it—which I'm sure he will be glad to answer.

In my opinion, Emhart is a good stock, is not speculative, but is fully priced and not particularly attractive. Earnings were down sharply in 1962 and will be considerably lower in 1963. Emhart's price-to-earnings ratio is roughly between 16 and 17, which is not low for a stock that has temporarily stopped growing. The yield of 3½ per cent seems too low in view of the earnings decline.

In place of Emhart, I suggest Maytag which has shown much better relative action and yields 4.3 per cent at current levels.

Doerr later that she couldn't stop to pick up Miss Freal because of heavy traffic, but later she drove back to the traffic circle and looked around but found no trace of Miss Freal.

Reported on Bridge

Toll collectors on the Mid-Hudson Bridge told police that a woman answering the description of Miss Freal was seen walking across the bridge at about 5:30 p. m. on the day she disappeared.

Chief Martin said police learned Miss Freal at one time was employed at Lake Minnewaska, and it is possible she came to Ulster County and obtained employment.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of the missing woman is asked to notify the nearest police agency or call Poughkeepsie police headquarters GL 2-1212.

Troops Not Answer: RFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said today he does not think that sending federal troops to Birmingham would solve the racial crisis there.

"We're not going to get the answer to this problem with bayonets," Kennedy said on the National Broadcasting Company's television show "Today."

Capital News In Brief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

TRADE WITH REDS: Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges has indicated the administration will undertake a study on whether to ease the U.S. embargo on exports to Communist-bloc countries.

A committee of industrialists taking part in a White House conference on export expansion recommended a review of the policy, and Hodges told reporters Wednesday at the end of the two-day meeting:

"I should think we would take very seriously what has been suggested here."

AIR ROUTE: The plan for a New York to Moscow airline route —which has been on ice for two years—is expected to be brought up again next week in talks between Secretary of State Dan Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

The air link, trade, space cooperation and disarmament are among the subjects expected to be discussed at the New York meetings, informants said.

The purpose of the talks will be to explore whether any further East-West agreements may be reached in the wake of the limited nuclear test-ban agreement.

HEALTH CARE: President Kennedy's plan for health care for the aged will not reach the House for debate this year.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., confirmed Wednesday that the Ways and Means Committee, which will handle the legislation, is unlikely to take further action on the measure before 1964.

He assured the Rules Committee that he would not seek House debate on the proposal this year.

ANTI - SEMITISM: Nineteen members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee have called on the Soviet Union "to alleviate the reported conditions adversely affecting" Russia's Jewish community.

The letter was sent to Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin Wednesday, the eve of Rosh Hashonah, the Jewish New Year.

Court-Martial Is Due Today for Po'keepsieSeaman

NEW YORK (AP) — A Coast Guard general court-martial was scheduled to convene today to try a Poughkeepsie man on charges of wilfully damaging his ship.

Boatswain's Mate 3.c Harry D. Lane, 21, is accused of opening flood valves of a floating drydock in Brooklyn last March 14, resulting in the sinking of the cutter Tamaroa and the drydock.

He has admitted opening the valves, the Coast Guard said.

The Tamaroa, undergoing annual overhaul at the time, subsequently was raised. It now is at the St. George Coast Guard base on Staten Island awaiting full repair.

The charge against Lane carries a maximum sentence of dishonorable discharge, five years' confinement at hard labor, loss of all pay and allowances, and reduction to the lowest enlisted grade.

Landlord Denied Bail

NEW YORK (AP)—A 57-year-old Brooklyn landlord has been ordered held for grand jury action in the slaying of a 64-year-old tenant whose body was found near a river in Orange County almost a month after death.

Criminal Court Judge Ludwig Glowa Wednesday allowed no bail for the landlord, Thomas Purbs.

Police have quoted Purbs as admitting he killed Leo Loeb during a quarrel over rent and other matters.

Loeb's body, bound and wrapped in plastic, was found near the Walkill River last month.

No Foul Play Hinted

DENVER (AP)—Glen H. Clapp, Williamsville, N.Y., was found dead in an alley early today behind a new skyscraper under construction in downtown Denver.

Police said there was nothing to indicate foul play in the death of Clapp, who was believed attending a convention. An autopsy is planned.

Clapp was believed to be in his early 50s.

Family Night Supper At Overlook Church

Members and their families of the Overlook Methodist Church will enjoy a Family Night Supper Sunday, Sept. 22, at 6 p. m. in the church hall.

The supper, sponsored by the Mission Commission of the church, will feature baked ham, and members are requested to bring their own place setting and a "dish to pass."

The evening's program will include slides and comments on a Mission Trip Camp through the Southern Smokey Mountains made by the Rev. and Mrs. James Cook this summer with youth from the New York Conference of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. F. Claude R. Potter of the Glasco Turnpike is chairman of the Mission Commission for Overlook Church.

About Problem Of Languages

After all the discussion I had with authorities as well as with average people, I am convinced that the language issue becomes more and more one of the world's most important problems. In our era distances become shorter and shorter, hence nations move closer and close together, physically, if not always spiritually.

I strongly believe that many problems on the international scene and many misunderstandings could be solved and ironed out if the language would not be an obstacle on the road toward mutual understanding. Imagine yourself in a distant corner of the world surrounded by people who do not speak your language. Suddenly, you meet one of your countrymen. No matter who he is, there is a point of contact between you both. If the broad masses of people of different nations could talk to each other, not only their governments, much misery could be avoided.

The language problem is two-fold—the foreign language problem and, this is even more important, our own native English language problem. The former is an international language problem; the latter a national one. On previous occasions, we spoke about the "poor vocabulary." Even if we want to be modest and do not expect a sixth grade student to know such words as frustration, excess, incompetent, disparage, it is sad to find out that he cannot explain the meaning of such words as immaterial, accelerate, exaggerate, conclusion, etc. In this sad collection of mine I have lists of words which I found to be unknown to students of the individual grades. One example out of many: I found a 12th grade student who didn't know the meaning of incompatible, consecutive, alternate. This is, of course, our domestic problem.

Time to Start

Coming back to foreign languages, may I ask at what age a child should begin with the first foreign language? Answer: In the kindergarten. This is no joke, of course, by phonetic methods only. How about those refugee children who came to our country and picked up English in no time, while they were speaking at home in their parents' native tongue of the old country.

Such bilingual children are nothing unusual in Central Europe and among some so-called "newcomers" to our country. The second foreign language can be started at the age of 12. This one not only phonetically but in combination with elementary grammar. At the age of 16 children should be ready to pick up a third language. A college graduate with three foreign languages plus a flawless English based upon a rich vocabulary and sound syntac is within reach. There is no miracle involved. Miracles exists only in the minds of the ignorant.

Read the biography of Heinrich Schliemann, the 19th century German archeologist. No matter how great his achievements were in his own line of profession, it is even more amazing how he solved the foreign language problem. A wonderful example what strong will and mental discipline can do. Let me conclude this "conclusion" with an immortal saying of the great Goethe: "As many languages you speak as many lives you live. And when I first went abroad, my mother dismissed me with the words: 'Be careful and find a girl friend who speaks more than one language'". . . H. A. SCHIMMERLING.

Chamber of Commerce Meets at Deanie's

A general membership meeting of the Woodstock Township Chamber of Commerce is scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock at Deanie's.

A report will be submitted regarding the past and future operations of the Information Center. There will also be a discussion of this year's plans.

Way Clear for Return Of Engineers Union

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The way was clear for a return to work today of striking operating engineers whose three-day strike had halted work on $30 million worth of state highway construction.

The engineers union ordered the men back to work Wednesday night in anticipation of renewed negotiations with contractors.

The strike had idled an estimated 1,500 men.

Jess Webb, business manager for Local 545, International Union of Operating Engineers, announced, "The parties (to the dispute) have agreed upon a method of resolving the situation and are meeting tomorrow (Thursday)." He did not elaborate.

The union wants the contractors to recognize what it asserts is its right to negotiate a contract for 100 surveyors and helpers. The union said 100 men had joined the local.

The contractors are represented by Associated General Contractors.

The contractors have argued that the union does not represent the majority of the surveyors and that its walkout, therefore, was illegal.

The strike affected projects in Syracuse, Ithaca, Rochester, Cortland, Oneida, Alexandria Bay and Edwards.

Girl Killed by Car

HUNTINGTON, N.Y. (AP) — Cheryl Spauer, 6, of Northport, died in Hungtington Hospital Wednesday night a few hours after she was struck by an auto near her home.

Pickets Are Called To Continue Protest

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Racial demonstrators summoned pickets today to continue a protest at a city urban renewal project, scene of 38 arrests since last Friday.

The Congress on Racial Equality (CORE), which has organized pickets Wednesday as soon as wrecking crews clearing the area quit for the day.

CORE charges that Negro families being displaced by the project are being discriminated against in their efforts to obtain new homes elsewhere in the city.

At Wednesday's demonstration as many as 120 persons joined the picket lines. Among the marchers were clergymen, students and women with children.

The 14 persons who were arrested Tuesday were arraigned in court yesterday and all pleaded innocent to the charges. All were charged with illegal intrusion for entering a roped-off area at the construction site. Two who faced additional counts were released in $500 bail. The others were released without bail.

Mysterious Origin

Origin of the historic Stonehenge monument in England remains a mystery. This circle of neolithic stones is thought to have been erected more than 4,000 years ago by a migratory Bronze Age tribe.

It was built as part of a federally approved interstate highway system, with the federal and state governments sharing major costs. It was made interstate because of its connection with the Thruway.

All of the completed routes give Kingston one of the best arterial systems in the state and a connection with the Thruway unsurpassed along its length.

State Aid to . . .

in 1962-63, New York City received $259 million.

Under the present formula, state aid is based on a cost ceiling of $500 per pupil. Many local school officials contend this is too low.

Prospects are considered remote for any substantial school spending beyond that already planned because of the current tight fiscal situation in state government.

State aid to education now represents about 45 per cent of the total cost of educating children in public schools through senior high school.

The 55 per cent majority share is financed by local school districts, most of it through taxes on real estate.

It is planned by those circulating the petitions, to submit them to the Board of Education at the next regular session scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 3 at 8 p. m. in the George Washington School.

Records 200 Quakes

WESTON, Mass. (AP)—In the nine months since Boston College completed its four-station seismic network, the recorders have detected 200 distant earthquakes and between 25 and 30 of local origin.

That is one reason why, Rev. Daniel Linehan, S.J., director of the Boston College Observatory, said today, he would like to add four more stations at some time in the future.

Ballerina to Marry

WARREN, Pa. (AP) — Miss Nancy King, a solo ballerina with the Metropolitan Opera until recently, announced her engagement today to William Zeckendorf Jr., New York millionaire real estate operator.

This will be the first marriage for Miss King, a native of Tidioute, a small northwestern Pennsylvania community.

Zeckendorf, president of Webb & Knapp, Inc., was divorced last year from Guri Lee.

Ulster Library Reelects Board, Officers for Year

Officers were reelected as well as three board members of the Town of Ulster Library at a recent meeting.

In addition, Charles Rider of Flatbush Road was elected to the board of directors.

Board members reelected, for three-year terms were, Mrs. Walter Wilmoth, Theodore Musialkewicz and William H. Williams.

Officers named for another term were:

Edward Crosby, president; Mrs. Michael Maxson, secretary; Robert Ohlson, treasurer. Other board members include Mrs. Myrtle Woodvine, Mrs. Edmund Frawley, Mrs. O. L. Sande, Hubert Brink and Bruce Burgher.

Mrs. Walter Burger, librarian, reported 658 library cards have been issued to townspeople and there was a noted increase in the turnover of books this summer. Over 50 books have also been added since August.

Board members discussed building plans obtained from various sources and reviewed the costs of each so that a contract may be let in the near future. Tim Troyan of Lake Katrine offered the use of his barn for the storage of cartons of books to be saved for a future book sale and his offer was accepted with thanks.

Storytime at the town library will begin Saturday at the Chambers School Library at 10 a. m. The fall library hours are Tuesday from 7 to 8:30 p. m., Wednesday and Friday 3 to 4 p. m. and Saturday 10 to 12 noon. Due to schools closing earlier this year, the librarian is on duty whenever possible at 2.30, should those traveling by school bus wish to leave books that are due.

Labor Relations Between Teachers, Boards Is Topic

The question of whether or not Boards of Education should enter into collective bargaining negotiations with school district teachers and employes will be discussed by various school board members at the meeting at State University College New Paltz, Wednesday, Sept. 25.

The recent problems encountered by New York City public schools in their negotiations with teachers will be examined and evaluated at this meeting.

Speakers who have been secured to discuss this topic are: Joseph F. Feily, President of the New York State Civil Service Employes Association; James F. Murphy, President of the Board of Education, Bayshore, Long Island; and Henry A. Weinstein, formerly President of the Board of Education, Plainedge, Long Island. Several Long Island schools have recently had problems similar to New York City's recent problems with their teachers.

Moderator of the program will be Fred Schneider, a member of the Board of Education, Mahopac Central School, Putnam County.

Nearly 200 board members from school boards of Putnam, Dutchess, Orange and Ulster County are expected to attend the meeting, which will begin with a dinner meeting starting at 7:30 p. m. It is sponsored by the Mid-Hudson School Study Council, which is an association of most of the public schools of the Mid-Hudson Area with headquarters at State University College at New Paltz. The Executive Secretary is Dr. William J. Hageny, Professor of Education at the college.

Cement Plant

plant said Lehigh did not contemplate any layoffs and he expects that production will be continued there through the end of the year. Lehigh which employes from 175 to 200, furloughed about 125 in a partial shutdown last December 30.

Joseph S. Young, president of Lehigh said a report to the Wall Street Journal yesterday that Lehigh has 'no intention of any layoffs in the east."

Joseph B. Wilson, superintendent at Alpha Portland Cement Co., Cementon could not be reached for comment this morning. However, a spokesman for Alpha was quoted in this mornings Wall Street Journal as saying, Alpha hasn't any plans for production curtailments.

Competition Keen

According to the Wall Street Journal, industry sources interpret the Marquette announcement as the latest evidence of heightening competition in the metropolitan New York market —one of the biggest in the country.

Atlantic Cement Co., late last fall entered the market with cement from its huge plant at Ravena in Albany County, which can produce 10 million barrels a year. Several other producers are in the midst of capacity-raising programs of expansion or modernization.

The tapering-off of construction of new apartment houses which use poured concrete is also a factor. Some users also observed that public works projects by the state have been "almost completely shut off," and the peak in cement pouring at the World Fair site in New York City has passed, the report said.

Increasing competition in the cement industry was indicated last month when a sharp price cut was announced by Alpha. The price was cut 40 cents to $3 a barrel in bulk, f.o.b. its Port Washington distribution station on Long Island and to four of New York's five boroughs.

Others Match Cut

The cut was matched by the other 16 producers in the market, one user reported. This source also said the lower prices have been extended to cover shipments through next year, assuring users of no increases in price until 1965.

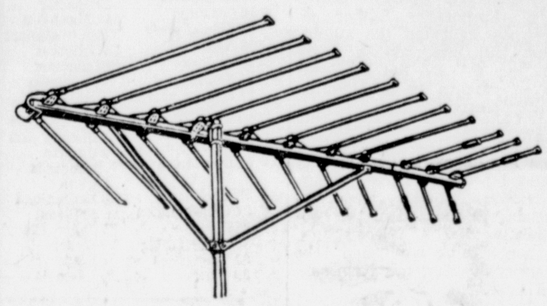

The Wall Street report also noted that cement producers often curtail production during winter. A few days ago, Lone Star Cement Corp., reduced production of its Hudson plant, in what a spokesman called a "scheduled cutback." Lone Star cut off production in two of its five kilns.

In a contrasting report last week, it was announced that an $11 million cement-manufacturing plant, which will employ 200 workers, will be built on Lake Ontario near Watertown.

The Lake Ontario Portland Cement Co., Ltd., of Toronto, Canada, parent company of Rochester Portland Cement Corp., will construct the plant.

The Canadian company now has a plant at Picton, Ont., and New York State distribution centers at Rochester and Rome.

Kingston Legion Starts Campaign For 650 Members

An enrollment campaign to sign 650 members for 1964 is now in progress by Kingston Post 150, American Legion, it was announced today by James Gilpatric, post commander.

Past Commander Frank T. Roedell is chairman of the campaign committee which includes Roy Jacob and Ralph Goedecke.

Commander Gilpatric said the enrollment drive would place special emphasis on 1964 as the 45th anniversary year of the Legion founded in 1919 by veterans of World War 1.

The local post is joining nearly 17,000 community organizations of the Legion throughout the nation and in several overseas countries and territories, in the world's largest annual membership enrollment campaign undertaken by a veterans organization.

"In order to devote as much time and effort as possible to our community service programs, we are planning to have the bulk of the annual membership drive completed by mid-October," Gilpatric said. "We are accepting dues payments now from those Legionnaires and eligible veterans who like to be known as "early birds." In addition, our early membership will help the Department of New York in its bid for 'Early Bird' honors from the national organization."

Gilpatric said the local post is planning to expand its local programs and activities, depending on the outcome of the 1964 campaign.

In extending a cordial invitation to the eligible war-time veterans of the area to join the American Legion, Commander Gilpatric outlined the following eligibility dates for Legion membership: World War 1 — April 6, 1917 to Nov. 11, 1918; World War 2 — Dec. 7, 1941 to Sept. 2, 1945, and Korean Conflict — June 25, 1950 to July 27, 1953.

The U.S. steel industry has a capacity of more than 147,660,000 tons a year.

Evacuees Return To Soggy Homes

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Weary men labored through the night to keep flood waters loosed by departed hurricane Cindy from topping a levee and spilling into the neighboring town of Port Acres.

Cloudbursts of the past two days subsided into occasional light showers. All but a few of several thousand evacuees were able to return and start shoveling mud from soggy homes.

Emphasizing that losses could not be appraised accurately until flood waters finish ebbing, the Jefferson County Civil Defense Council estimated damage might reach $10.5 million.

The council appealed for Texas Gov. John Connally to declare the county, which includes Beaumont and Port Arthur, a disaster area.

Rains measuring up to nearly two feet drained into the Neches River and created the threat to Port Acres, 10 miles south of here and just west of Port Arthur.

Jailed for Using Snake

SELMA, Ala. (AP) —A white man has been jailed in this racially troubled city after he allegedly pushed a live snake into a Negro's mouth.

Sheriff James Clark said Dean Barber Jr., 23, of Selma, is charged with conduct intended to incite a riot. A Negro was charged with assault and battery in the same incident.

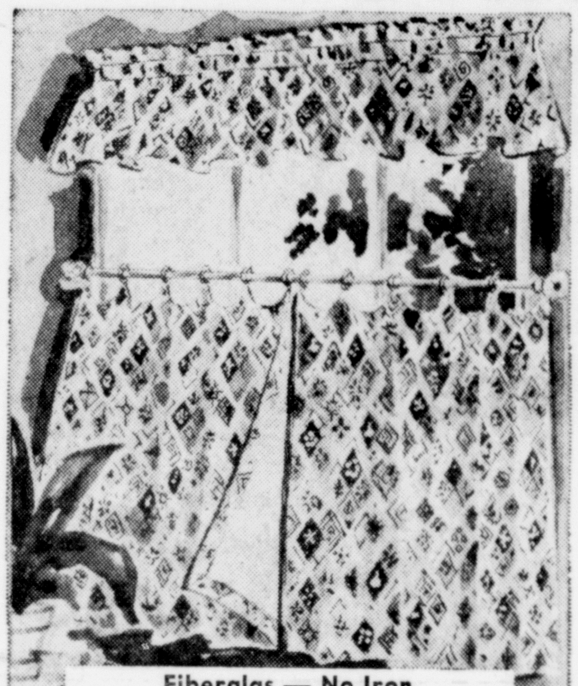

If 'Price Is Right'

MONTICELLO, Iowa (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman told an audience of eastern Iowa farmers Wednesday that he would be willing to sell some of this nation's surplus wheat to the Soviet Union, if the Russians pay "our price."

Freeman explained that he favors selling American wheat to the Communists only at a non-subsidized price. American wheat currently moves into world trade with about a 70 cents a bushel U.S. subsidy, in order to compete with exports from other nations.

Legislature Asked To Give Right To Swap Stamps

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A firm that acts as a clearing house for trading stamps wants the 1964 Legislature to give housewives and other consumers full legal title to trading stamps they receive, so that they could swap them for other stamps or dispose of them as they please.

The Utica firm, headed by Theodore Berkeley, made the request Tuesday at a public hearing conducted by a legislative committee.

Berkeley once served a three-month jail term because he refused to stop dealing in stamps issued by the nation's largest trading - stamp firm, Sperry & Hutchinson Co.

He was released after he agreed to allow a court-appointed monitor inspect his mail and return all S & H stamps to the senders.

S & H, which pressed the court action against Berkeley, argued at Tuesday's hearing that it would suffer financially if such stamp banks were allowed to flourish.

The issue was argued before the Joint Legislative Committee on Commerce and Economic Development.

The committee is trying to decide whether to recommend to the 1964 Lgislature steps to regulate the trading-stamp business within New York State.

At yesterday's hearing, Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz again asked the Legislature to authorize the State Insurance Department to regulate and control the trading-stamp system in the state.

Lefkowitz said "the economic failure of individuals and firms operating as trading stamp companies has entailed substantial monetary loss to the consumer.

Assemblyman Haywood Plumadore, R-Saranac Lake, also appealed for regulation.

Trading stamp companies have opposed vigorously a proposal that would require them to turn over to the state annually the established value of unredeemed stamps.

S&H argued that the amount involved had been exaggerated and that savings gleaned from non-redemptions were passed on to consumers and retailers.

Opponents of the present trading-stamp system say consumers who have stamps received through purchases of groceries and other items often find the company that issued them has gone out of business.

The trading stamp companies sell the stamps to retailers for distribution with purchases. The common standard is one stamp for each 10 cents spent.

The stamp companies offer premiums, such as household applicances and sporting goods, for a specified number of books of stamps.

35 Leave on 28th For Checking on RadioFreeEurope

Thirty-five prominent American businessmen, broadcasting officials and civic leaders will fly from New York to Europe on September 28 to inspect Radio Free Europe's facilities in Munich, Germany.

The 9-day study tour is sponsored by the Radio Free Europe Fund, a private, non-profit organization which raises funds to support Radio Free Europe's anti-Communist broadcasts behind the Iron Curtain. RFE is the world's strongest and most influential free world network broadcasting news and information to the Communist-controlled countries of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

The first stop on the study tour will be Radio Free Europe's headquarters in Munich, Germany for a briefing of RFE's operation by RFE's exile staff members and their American supervisors. A full day inspection tour of the Iron Curtain separating West Germany from Czechoslovakia will also be included in the itinerary.

During their stay in Munich the group will be briefed by SHAPE officers from Paris on the European defense program. Radio Free Europe's role in the struggle against Communist oppression will also be reviewed.

After their Munich visit, the study tour members will be flown to Berlin for a meeting with West Berlin's Mayor Willy Brandt and an inspection of the Berlin Wall.

The study tour will return to New York on October 8. No Radio Free Europe contributions are used to finance any part of the trip.

Writes Letter in Blood

PARIS (AP) — In a protest against the South Viet Nam regime, a Buddhist sliced himself with a dagger Tuesday and with his own blood wrote a letter to the United Nations.

Nguyen Thang Thai, who identified himself as secretary-general of the International Buddhist Federation ceremoniously cut himself before a crowd of 300 in a Paris park.

He inflicted a superficial one-inch gash in his chest. An aide collected the blood in a cup. Dipping a brush into the blood, Thai wrote in large Vietnamese characters:

"In the name of the Vietnamese people, we denounce the crimes committed by the Ngo Dinh Diem government and demand an outright condemnation of the violation of human rights in South Viet Nam."

To the Naturalized:

Best to Confer With Consulates Before Your Trip

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — To naturalized Americans thinking of paying a visit to their old homelands, the State Department gives his urgent advice:

"Check up beforehand, lest you get caught in a draft."

A military draft, that is.

The problem came up recently in the case of Samuel Cohen, 27, a Chicago Educator. He went to Israel this past summer to study briefly—but he may have to stay another 2½ years as a soldier.

Cohen was born in Israel but became a naturalized American after he came to this country 12 years ago. The trouble is, the Israelis consider him still a citizen of their country. They are holding him for military service.

Prospects Dubious

U.S. diplomats are working to release him, with dubious prospects of success.

The case illustrates the tangles international situation with regard to citizenship. What nationality you are may depend on where you are.

The United States, for example, does not recognize dual citizenship. Once an alien takes the U.S. citizenship oath, he is considered an American—period.

But Israel holds that an Israeli remains an Israeli until he formally renounces citizenship and this renunciation is accepted by the interior minister of Israel.

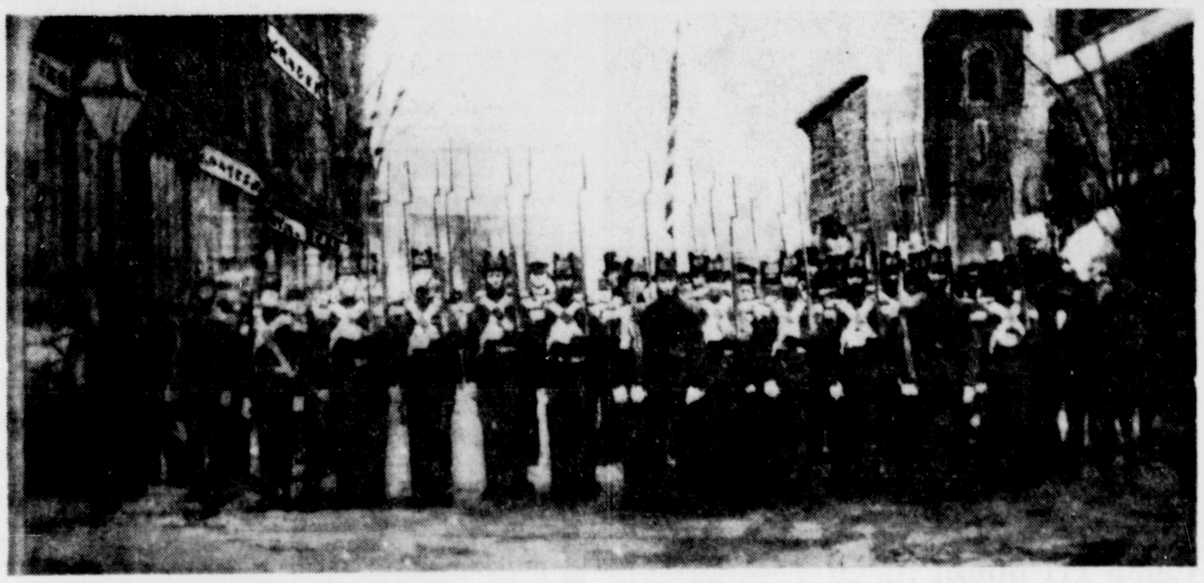

Other countries have similar laws, but U.S. officials say the Israelis seem to be "stickier than most" in enforcing them.

Best to See Consulates

The United States has agreements with a number of countries, notably NATO nations, ironing out some citizenship problems. Several countries exempt men from conscription if they served in the U.S. armed forces in World War II.

In general, though, the State Department advises that naturalized citizens planning trips to their native lands should check with consulates to see what they may be getting into.

There's another warning. If a naturalized citizen stays three years in the country of his origin, he may risk losing American citizenship. However, he may safely stay abroad as long as eight years if he hops from country to country.

LOCAL SCENE PRIOR TO CIVIL WAR—This photograph, one of the first believed taken by a camera in the Hudson Valley, was reportedly the work of Matthew Brady, well-known photographer of the Civil War Era. Brady captures on glass film plate members of Old Ulster Guard, 20th Militia of New York State on Wall Street, Kingston. The belfry of St. John's Church, which was later moved to Albany Avenue stone-by-stone, is at right. The photo was made available by Tom Reynolds and Pennington Studio. This is one of many prints illustrating the record of Ulster County's participation in the Civil War in Banners and Bugles written by Will Plank of Marlboro and published by Centennial Press. The book sponsored by Ulster County through a grant is now available in book stores. Posing for the print made from a glass plate presented an ordeal for the group who had to stand at rigid attention while time exposure was made.

Banners, Bugles Published

Part Played by Local Men In Civil War Noted in Book

Few local people realize that Ulster County made a record for itself almost unequalled in New York State during the Civil War. A century ago the county had three regiments fighting for the preservation of the Union.

Only the metropolitan areas with populations many times that of Ulster contributed more men to the war effort; most counties had but one regiment in service, many had but a company or two. Kingston and Ulster County provided twenty times as many in service, for in addition to these three regiments hundreds of men served in other units on land and sea.

The record of our soldiers and sailors and the story of what Ulster people were doing at home during this most critical period of United States history is told in detail in the new book "Banners and Bugles" written by Will Plank of Marlboro, Civil War historian and Ulster County chairman of the New York Centennial Commission.

Now on sale at local book stores and newsstands all over the county, the book is the product of years of research. With over 200 pages, 80 illustrations and maps it gives detailed accounts of the service of three regiments, the 80th, 120th and 156th, organized in Ulster County. Also shorter accounts of the 56th and 124th from Orange, the 150th from Dutchess and the 143rd from Sullivan Counties. The 44th, 48th, 71st, 90th, 102nd and other regiments of volunteer infantry and cavalry and artillery units; also the Navy.

The 156th or Mountain Legion fought on the Mississippi, in Louisiana, in the Shenandoah Valley, went to the defense of Washington, served in North Carolina and Georgia, and was shipwrecked and rescued at sea off Key West. Its history has never been printed before.

The Sanitary Fairs and the Albany "Bazaar" with the raffle of Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation; the Hudson Valley journey of the funeral train carrying his body home; John Wilkes Booth and his brother Edwin, who cast his first vote for Lincoln; the draft and local bounties; women and the war; inflation and changes in the area are described; many anecdotes.

An article by Charles G. Stevenson, former Adjutant General of New York State, telling of regimental flags is a feature. Two of the banners of the 80th presented to the family of Col. George W. Pratt, mortally wounded at Second Bull Run, were taken to France by his daughter when she married a French count, remained in that country nearly 100 years before they were sent home and now are to be seen with others at the Military Museum, Albany.

Three of the regiments featured in the book are among the 300 most famous regiments which served in the Union Army. One of them, the 124th had no fewer than five Congressional Medal of Honor Winners in its ranks. Two others had one each.

Ancient photographs of local scenes never before published and news from the files of county newspapers during the war years are features. Another is the list of names of soldiers and sailors from every town in the county as compiled at the time.

The book, published with the cooperation of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors is designed to preserve for posterity the splendid record made by our people during the war.

"Banners and Bugles is written, not for the historian in technical style, but for today's citizen who may have some interest but not too much information on the Civil War. It describes the organizations and equipment used. Letters from soldiers and sailors and from Gen. Sharpe who patroled Robert E. Lee at Appomattox, are features of the book.

In the foreword by Bruce Catton the famous historical writer says:

"For a long time now, the Civil War bugles have been mute, the tattered banners furled. With this book, the bugles are heard again, and the banners fly."

Why We Say--

SEASICK: When we don't feel well, we might use this expression. It started with sailing, when the "new sailor" who felt a little seasick sought shelter from the wind by crouching for protection beside the bulwarks on the "weather" or windy side of the ship.

Along Capitol Corridors

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Commerce Department, probably the most aggressively optimistic agency in state government, continues to report record business activity while Gov. Rockefeller blames a lagging economy for the state's fiscal troubles.

The department issued this week a news release proclaiming that "economic activity in New York State maintained record levels in July."

Not Up to Expectations: Gov.

Eight days earlier, Rockefeller had announced that he no longer stood by his 1962 campaign pledge to hold the tax line through 1966. He explained that the promise had been made on the basis of an expected growth rate that did not materialize.

But the Commerce Department, where seldom is heard a discouraging word, was reporting that business in New York State in July was rated "at the all-time high of 154 on the department's index of business activity."

The figure is arrived at through use of standard guides—such as activity in the construction, retail and manufacturing fields and employment totals.

The overall figure of 154 for July compared with 148 last October and 150 in November. The governor said last fall that economic growth in the state would provide additional revenues and foreclose the possibility of tax increases.

View on Claims

Rockefeller was asked recently about the conflict between claims of record prosperity and his statements about an economic lag.

"Well, the states can go on their own," he said, "but they are still part of the total national picture."

He said unemployment in New York State was generally below the national average and "this is an evidence that we have moved up in relation to the rest of the country."

"The whole country goes forward, though, together," he continued.

While the governor said his pledge of no new taxes was based on the expectation that the Kennedy administration would achieve its economic goals, Rockefeller had expressed doubts about the future of the national economy several months before the campaign promise was given.

Rockefeller was asked in a television interview on Jan. 11, 1962, to comment on "the achievements and failures" of the Democratic national administration.

Notes Much Talk

His answer included the statement that "there was a great deal of talk in the field of taxation about encouraging an acceleration of economic growth in this country. There was going to be a revision of the tax structure. . . these things have not materialized."

In April 1962, Rockefeller said in a speech in Detroit, Mich., that his own estimates for the 1962 economy had been much more conservative than Kennedy's.

Rockefeller said that business in 1962 would be good but "it is plain that it won't be as good as predicted in late 1961 when the Kennedy administration forecast a gross national product of $570 billion for 1962."

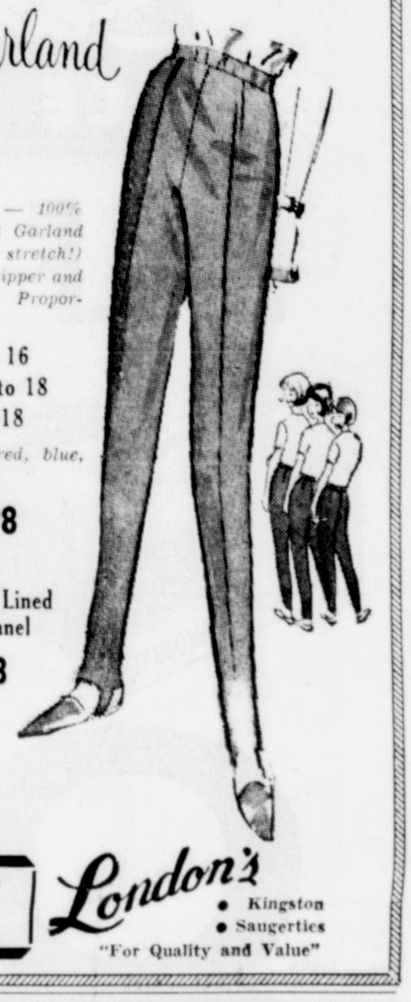

Most political observers here predicted that Rockefeller would regret the "no new taxes" statement, made during his campaign for re-election. They expected approximately the sort of back-peddling he now is doing but few expected it as soon as it came.

The optimistic business statements of the State Commerce Department simply add to the governor's difficulty.

Guam is an unincorporated U.S. Territory, administered by the Department of Interior, according to Britannica Book of the Year.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Channing," ABC's new Wednesday night dramatic series may sound like the name of a Western but is a fictional university around which the stories are to be built.

Viewers who tuned in Wednesday night expecting to watch freshmen stuffing phone booths or the quarterback making a last-minute touchdown had a surprise.

Most of the premiere show took place in the death row and visiting room of a state prison. What little college atmosphere shown was strictly coincidental. But despite the iron bars and the hyperthyroid acting of guest star John Cassavetes playing a convicted murder, the opening show was slow-moving, talky and over loaded with fuzzy philosophy.

A young professor of English—the role assumed for the run of the show by Jason Evers—received a manuscript written in prison by the killer, is vastly impressed and then proceeds to become interested in the man and his fate.

The professor got almost hysterical because the killer of an old lady during a holdup was going to the gas chamber. The show, however, was not exactly a preachment against capital punishment. In fact, its hard to say exactly what point it was making. At any rate, "Channing" was not very interesting to watch.

The new "Patty Duke Show," also on ABC, may not win that able young actress any new performing awards but as a comedy about a modern teen-ager it may amuse teen-agers—and maybe even teen-agers' parents.

NBC's "Temple Houston" will have its premiere tonight, 7:30-8:30 Eastern Daylight Time. It is a Western with a lawyer hero. At 9 ABC has the debut of its new "Jimmy Dean Show" a variety hour. It will be followed immediately by an hour special in which Sid Caesar and Edie Adams will co-star. Thereafter each will star in his own half-hour variety show on alternate weeks.

RECOGNIZED AT HONOR COURT—Three Star Scouts and five First Class Scouts were recognized this week during the Boy Scout Troop 6 Court of Honor held at First Baptist Church. Those advanced with Scoutmaster Edward Safford are (l-r) front, Charles Korzendorfer, David Ackert, and James Jansen, first class; Donald Korchowsky, star and Frank Kordzikowski, first class; rear, Scoutmaster Safford, Walter Middaugh, first class; Michael VanDeMark and Richard Van Keuren, both star scouts. (Freeman photo).

Troop 6 Presents Awards Earned at Camp Tri-Mount

The Court of Honor held by Boy Scout Troop 6, First Baptist Church, Kingston, this week gave recognition to those scouts who advanced in rank and earned merit badges during the summer at Camp Tri-Mount Scout Reservation.

Scoutmaster Edward Safford officially welcomed Andrew Giacoma into the troop in the tenderfoot investiture with the candle board making an effective backdrop.

Presents First, Second Class

Assistant Scoutmaster Lawrence Esau presented second class scout emblems to Robert Dohnken and Howard Kramer. First class emblems were received by David Ackert, Frank Kordzikowski, James Jansen, Walter Middaugh and Charles Korzendorfer.

Neighborhood Commissioner Louis Gerbon who serves the troop on behalf of the Council program presented merit badges to Douglas Eighmey, Donald Korchowsky, Ronald Storm, Joseph Romano, Michael VanDeMark and Richard VanKeuren. Camping, cooking and woodcarving were the most popular badges while rowing, canoeing, forestry, geology, landscaping and wildlife management also were earned. A one-year service star was given to Robert Dohnken and Douglas Eighmey was presented an eight-year pin.

Committeeman Sherwood Lasher made the presentation of Star Scout emblems to Donald Korchowsky, Michael VanDeMark, and Richard Van Keuren pointing out that they all were well on their way up the Scouting ladder to Eagle rank.

Committeeman Lester Decker started the recognition ceremony by introducing Assistant Scoutmasters Esau, and Eighmey. Bruce Safford is the junior assistant scoutmaster.

List Officers

Troop officers are: Scribe, Walter Middaugh; quartermaster, Ronald Storm; librarian, Bruce Giacoma.

The Green Bar patrol includes Joseph Romano, senior patrol leader; Michael VanDeMark, assistant; and patrol leaders Walter Middaugh, Donald Korchowsky, James Jansen, Vernon Hull, and Charles Korzendorfer.

The added attraction was a model contest with Air, Land and Sea categories. Guest judge was John Lown a local Scout well known for his model rocketry. Henry P. Eighmey, Council camp committee chairman also sat with the judging team.

During the parent's meeting World Jamboree plans were outlined and the forthcoming scouters "Show and Do" training session was discussed.

Plan Leaders Class

Additional announcements include preparations for participation in the junior leader training session at Camp Tri-Mount, East Jewett and the October district-wide field day at the Municipal Stadium.

Boy Scout Troop 6 is welcoming all boys and parents interested in finding out more about scouting to special events planned as part of the National "Adventure Roundup." Transfer Is Voted Of 13 Pupils to Ellenville School

Discontinuance of the Ulster Heights School in the Ellenville Central School District and transfer of 13 pupils to the Maple Avenue School starting Monday, Sept. 23 has been approved by a five to one vote of members of the Board of Education.

Ben Lonstein, school attorney, said four grades had been conducted at the Ulster Heights School, and the 13 pupils will be assigned to respective classes at the Maple Avenue school. The teacher who had been in charge of classes at the old school will be added to the staff at Maple Avenue school.

Attorney Lonstein stated that the closing of the Ulster Heights school will result in a savings of upwards of $13,000 annual for the district and educationally-wise will be of benefit to the pupils.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fall output of turkeys and lamb places them among the meat leaders at supermarkets over the nation this weekend.

Other main course attractions include ribs of beef, fish, pork loins, hams and chickens.

Vegetable offerings include large supplies of rice and season-peak selctions of many fresh vegetables.

Fruit counters continued to offer considerable variety, with summer berries and melons overlapping into fall tree fruits.

The turkey crop is expected to run about 93½ million birds, up slightly from last year.

Other fowl attractions include broiler fryers, with production running 5 to 8 per cent above a year ago as the seasonal peak tapers off. Stewing hens and roasters are also featured.

Beef attractions include rib roasts, chuck roasts and steaks.

Prok production is beginning its fall pickup and prices are already reflecting this in some areas. Chops, loins and some cured varieties are most widely offered.

Cold storage stocks of fish are about 10 per cent higher than a year ago, so many stores are offering bargains in this line.

Fresh vegetables include sweet corn, snap beans, beets, broccoli, cabbage, carrots, celery, cucumbers, squash, eggplant, cauliflower green and yellow onions peppers, radishes and tomatoes.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) —President Kennedy urges American manufacturers and farmers to sell $2 billion more of their products abroad each year. Or, to put it the other way, he wants foreigners to buy $2 billion more of American goods.

He says Americans could increase the total of exports if they looked beyond home markets, put more hard-sell into their efforts abroad, and if they lowered prices to meet competition from other industrial countries.

Foreigners presumably could find the money to buy more from us by buying less from our competitors, and by using more of the dollar assets they pile up from sales of their goods and raw materials to us and from our foreign aid and other federal spending programs, and from dollars received as private investment overseas by Americans.

In spite of all the forebodings about growing foreign competition, U.S. export totals have been growing year by year. They came to $20.5 billion in 1962.

American business has been able to expand many of its markets and hold others because of superior product, service, or efficiency of manufacturing and distribution. It has done so in the face of rising production costs at home, sharply contrasted to generally lower production costs (particularly labor) in the fast rising industrial lands of Western Europe and Japan.

The rub has come from this: While the total of exports has grown, the share of the world's markets has fallen. U.S. exports were still expanding, but those of other nations were increasing much faster.

Rising wages and other production costs in Europe have led many Americans to believe that the price advantage some European products have in world markets was shrinking.

But statistics issued by the Commission of the European Economic Community show that while prices paid by the consumers in Europe are rising, the prices on exported goods have gone up very little.

President Kennedy has told American producers they might try the same thing—boost exports by producing more and keeping prices low, instead of the other way around.

Waite went to the State Police in 1961 after 10 years previous service in education. He was dean of students at RPI from 1951 through 1957.

Would Try Pair

BATH, N.Y. (AP) — A district attorney has asked to have a 19-year-old farmhand, charged with first-degree murder, stand trial with the widow of the man he is accused of killing.

Dist. Atty. Ernest G. Peltz of Steuben County Wednesday said he wanted Wesley E. Nash, Jr. tried in Wayne County instead of Steuben County. The widow, Mrs. Stella Klymiuk, will face trial on a charge of first-degree murder in Wayne County.

Fluid Milk Sales Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sales of fluid milk in the nation's metropolitan marketing areas is running about 1.8 per cent higher than a year earlier.

But an increase in deliveries of fresh milk to these markets is averaging somewhat larger, resulting in a slightly larger diversion of such milk to manufactured dairy products.

Reporting these facts, the Agriculture Department said sales of skim milk during the first half of this year were 6 per cent larger than a year earlier. But sales of cream and cream products were said to be losing further ground.

Piekielniak withheld a verdict until Friday.

Drug Addiction

the environmental factors favoring the atmosphere for addiction. It is estimated that there are 60,000 addicts in the United States today. Forty-five per cent of this number are in New York State and 80 per cent of the latter figure are in New York City.

Enforcement agencies, he stated, have continuously diminished the smuggling of heroin in this country. Without this vigilance, the nation would be faced with a much larger addiction.

The agent also spoke of the addiction problem among college students, who start with marihuana, then barbituates and heroin. With addiction you get crime which supports the habit and the sad part of it all, he said, our young people in school are subjected to it.

Oppose Clinic Theory

The "clinic system" which has many supporters will not work, he said, because addicts have no self control. This is a theory, he explained, that would place drug addicts on sustaining dosages of narcotics, returning them to society ostensibly to enjoy normal lives.

The director said that law enforcement and public health officials who are opposed to the clinic theory are fully cognizant that narcotics addicts are "sick people" and addiction is basically a disease. However, officials are of the opinion that ambulatory treatment of addicts in reality offers no cure or treatment but merely extends the miseries of the addicts. The enforcement groups are not opposed to the treatment of the addict. What they firmly believe is that this treatment should consist of withdrawal from the drug, or detoxification, followed by medical care to nuture the body back to normal health, coupled with psychiatric treatment, rehabilitation and follow-up care.

Ex-Witness Accounts

A number of on-the-scene cases of personal tragedies and an area case involving the use of demerol, a synthetic drug similar to morphine, by a school teacher were related by the speaker.

In conclusion, Director Bellizzi emphasized that law enforcement officials were not against treatment for the addict but were out to apprehend the criminal narcotics pushers, who are dragging the innocent, the weak and the ignorant down into degradation, crime and violent death.

High Holy Days Begin With Rosh Hashonah Today

Jewish congregations in Kingston and throughout the world began the Hebrew year 5,724 with Rosh Hashonah services at sundown Wednesday.

Thus began the season of the High Holy Days, a ten-day period of prayer and self denial culminating in the Day of Atonement, Yom Kippur which begins at sundown Friday, Sept. 27.

Orthodox and Conservative Jews observe Rosh Hashonah for two days and Reform Jews for one day.

The shofar, ram's horn, sounded the beginning of Rosh Hashonah in local synagogues last night. Services are being held today at Temple Emanuel, Ahavath Israel and Agudas Achim Congregations. Services will be held tonight 6:45 p. m. at Agudas Achim and 7 p. m. at Ahavath Israel. Friday services at Agudas Achim are at 8 a. m. and 6:45 p. m.; Ahavath Israel, 8:30 a. m. and 7 p. m. Quints Are Improving As Well as Fortunes

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP) — The Fischer quintuplets squirmed and squalled in their hospital nursery today while their fortunes and chances for survival continued to mount.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fischer, parents of the four girls and a boy, got good news from several directions Wednesday:

$100,000 Home Looms

They will someday live in a new house costing up to $100,000.

A potful of money (some say about $50,000) is coming their way for an exclusive contract signed with the Curtis Publishing Co.

Authorities at St. Luke's Hospital reported the quints still improving, eating more and showing lots of life in their Isolettes.

It is estimated that gifts and money received by the family so far total some $250,000.

E. C. Pieplow, president of the Aberdeen Chamber of Commerce, told a news conference Wednesday night that the Fischer family has accepted the chamber offer to build the home, which may cost up to the $100,000 mark.

The site and size of the home have yet to be determined.

Don Schanche, managing editor of the Saturday Evening Post, announced that Curtis has secured radio, television and publishing rights to stories and pictures about the famous quints.

He refused to disclose any details of the agreement. Unofficial reports set the purchase price at about $50,000 for rights to the story for a few issues of the Post and Curtis' Ladies Homes Journal.

Pledges Dignity

Schanche said his company was "very happy to have concluded the agreement and thinks it is the best thing for all concerned."

He pledged the story of the quints would be handled "with dignity and decorum."

A hospital bulletin reported the quints were "still tolerating their food well" and the food intake has been increased beyond the teaspoonful or so of artificial milk formula and water being received every two hours.

The boy, James Andrew, remained the most active of the infants.

"He lets you know he's a boy," one nurse reported.

Also reported highly active and healthy were the four girls—Mary Margaret, Mary Magdalene, Mary Catherine and Mary Ann.

House of Mirrors At Palsy Center Is Teaching Aid

There is a house of mirrors at 400 Broadway in Kingston that children learn to live by. It is the only one of its kind in Ulster County, and there are few like it elsewhere.

In one of its small second-floor rooms, a five-year-old boy sits and stares into one of the mirrors he is learning to talk by. He watches as his lips form words beginning with TH.

Mouth Forms Word

THink, his mouth forms, but the sound it makes is not the sound we know. THank, he tries. And it is a little clearer.

Over his shoulder, the round cheerful face of a uniformed girl stares into the mirror too. With exaggerated lip movements, she, too, patiently and repeatedly shows how the mouth must look to say THink-THank-THese.

Next door, a blonde, five-year-old is reflected in the floor to ceiling mirror. She adjusts her leg braces and watches as she limps to meet herself in the mirror she is learning to walk by. Is this how the nurse walks? Is this how Mary walks?

Look and see. Try again. A make-believe stairway is moved up and still watching the mirror, the slight, braced figure holds the guard rail, slowly moves one leg up. Then slowly, but definitely the other moves up too. In the mirror, beyond her triumphant smile, a shelf shows holding a graveyard of old braces, built-up shoes, crutches. Not that they can be reused. But parts of them can be and nothing is wasted here.

Located in Kingston

For the house of mirrors is United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster County, Inc. in Kingston where children from throughout the county and beyond come for diagnosis, treatment and care of muscular, hearing, speech and orthopedic difficulties—whether or not the disabilities are associated with cerebral palsy.

The house of mirrors is a clinic and a nursery. It reflects needing and giving and the "caring" in Ulster County. The "caring" shows the cabinets built by a carpenter while recovering from a broken leg and while using crutches loaned from CP.

It is reflected in the volunteer men and women drivers who help through the halls, children of all races and colors, wearing their hearing aids, braces, crutches, specially built shoes or carrying their speech books and toys.

It is shown in the make-believe steps, the special nursery tables with their support straps, in the flowers and toys — all made and contributed voluntarily over the years from Kingston.

Supported by Chest Fund

The CP Center is supported in part by Community Chest funds, but so much more that CP hopes to do depends on the amount of support each citizen of Ulster County outside the Chest area gives during the annual fund campaign. A large percentage of the center's patients are from these areas, their support is required.

CP cares for children. Do you? Show your caring with a generous contribution to the annual CP fund drive now taking place in your area.

Surgical Society Holds Fall Meet

The management of patients on corticoid therapy was the topic of the guest speaker at the fall meeting Wednesday of the Mid-Hudson Surgical Society Inc., held at Beau Rivage, Newburgh.

The speaker was Dr. Herbert Kupperman of New York University College of Medicine.

Members attending from Kingston were Doctors Emil Goodyear, Gerald Gorman, Francis LoGalbo, Elbert Loughran, Robert Moseley, and Joseph T. Webber.

The presentation was one that is peculiarly adapted to present day medical practice. The corticoids are a group of newer drugs that have a wide range of use in many diseases.

Patients receiving these drugs must be closely observed during surgical procedures, the speaker said. Dr. Kupperman outlined measures to avoid pitfalls and to enhance general care.

Body of Girl Found

Didn't Find Cent, Say Demolition At County Sites

Employes in the buildings at 240 Fair Street, formerly occupied by the County Welfare Department, and 32 Main Street, by the County Motor Vehicle Bureau and other offices, evidently handled monies guardedly.

A member of the firm of Van Alen and Thayer, under contract with the county to tear down the buildings to clear the site for the new county office building said Wednesday, "We didn't find a cent."

His comment was in reply to a question by an observer, "Did you find any money in the clutter after demolishing the buildings?"

James Van Alen commented, "Usually one finds one or more coins that rolled under the radiators, but here—not a penny."

Hopes of finding any lost coins in the two buildings now are slim because the former Welfare Department building is gone, and the MVB is very near the street level—in shambles.

Eye Replacement

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania Republicans and Democrats turned today to the task of picking their candidates for the congressional seat of the late U.S. Rep. Leon H. Gavin who died last Saturday.

Gavin, a 70-year-old Oil City Republican and a member of Congress for 21 years, was buried among the nation's war heroes Wednesday at the Arlington, Va., National Cemetery.

Gov. Scranton is expected to call a special election next week, probably to be held in conjunction with the Nov. 5 municipal election.

Partners Seek Four-Card Fit

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When you use Jacoby-Stayman with a game going hand the purpose is to find a 4-4 major suit fit if there is one. Hence, you always must have at least one four-card major when you use it.

You may also have a five-card major. In that case if your partner bids either major suit in response to two clubs you raise to three or four as your hand warrants, if he bids two diamonds you jump to three of your five-card major. If you have no five-card major and he bids two diamonds you simply bid the approximate number of no-trump.

Twenty-six points is normally enough for game. This time South saw that 29 points might be inadequate.

He ducked the first diamond, but won the continuation. His next play was a happy one. He led his eight of spades and put in dummy's te played the four. East won with the king and led back his last diamond.

At this point South had his nine top tricks and there was a

WEST ♠ J 6 4 ♥ 8 2 ♦ Q 10 9 3 ♣ Q 10 7 3		EAST ♠ K 9 7 5 ♥ J 10 7 4 ♦ J 5 2 ♣ J 9

double dummy way to make a tenth which I leave to you readers to figure out. South tried the more logical method of discarding a spade from dummy leading the deuce of clubs and playing dummy's eight spot after West played the three.

This play would give him ten tricks if either hearts or clubs broke and in addition allowed for certain squeeze possibilities.

None worked, but South was perfectly satisfied with making his contract. If he had gone wrong in spades he might have gone down.

YW Program Fund Is Aided by Style Show Given Here

The YWCA program fund received enthusiastic support from area residents last week. The occasion was a fashion show given at the YW with Mrs. Helen Davenport as fashion commentator.

One of the highlights of the evening was a mystery model, who, in fact, was Mrs. Henry Millonig. She was featured in the 40th anniversary reunion scene. Mrs. Millonig has been a YWCA member for 40 years.

The best received fashion trends included the "A" shape with raised waistline in coats and dresses, the new fall colors, after-ski boots and bright colors in men's sport coats.

Mrs. Henry Eighmey acknowledged the efforts of the chairmen on behalf of the YW Board of Directors. Co-chairmen were Mrs. George Thomas Jordan and Mrs. Peter Corsones. Assisting were the Mmes. Robert Smith, Richard Joseph, Kenneth Pangburn, Terry Read, William Brutsman, Edward Elbert, Harry Webster and John Ostrander and also the Mmes. Donald Hulsair, John Greco, Bernard Trowbridge and Henry F. Millonig.

URGED FRIEND TO WEAR HER JEWELRY

Q: At my insistance a friend borrowed a piece of jewelry from me to wear for a very special occasion. Unfortunately she lost it but has offered to pay me for it. Having urged her to wear it I feel partly responsible for the loss. Will you please tell me if it would be proper to accept payment from her

A: Having urged your friend to wear the jewelry, you should not now let her pay for its loss.

Bride's Parents Are Separated

Q: My husband and I have been separated a little over a year. Our daughter is to be married soon and I'm wondering whether her father's name should appear with mine on the invitations since we are not divorced. He will be present at the wedding and will give the bride away. If sent in my name alone, shall I use Mrs. John Smith or Mrs. Mary Smith?

A: If you separation is permanent and it is generally known that you are not living with your husband, his name should not appear with yours on the invitations. You use the name Mrs. John Smith unless you have replaced your husband's first name with your own surname and are now known as Mrs. Jones Smith.

Transportation for Bridegroom's Parents

Q: My daughter is going to be married in two weeks. Her fiance's parents will be coming from out of town to attend the wedding. They will be staying at a hotel as we have no room to put them up at our house. I would like to know if we are expected to send a car to the hotel the day of the wedding to pick them up and take them to the church.

A: Not if taxis are plentiful, but if there could be any difficulty in their getting to the church, you should arrange for their transportation.

Apple Grades Revised

It is apple harvest time again. Estimators place New York State crop, and the national crop as a whole, below last year's, but above the average for 1951-60. For New Yorkers, the home-state crop largely influences the amount of apples available in the fall. Despite the smaller crop, we will have ample apples this season with peak supplies arriving in October, says Louise M. Kakargo, assistant home demonstration agent.

Government grades help to organize the marketing of large-volume perishables such as apples. Apple grades help the producer receive a fair price for the fruit he has grown. And, equally important, they help shoppers buy wisely.

When buying apples, shoppers will find it advantageous to know:

The grade designations from high to low; the quality and limitations of different grades; when and where to look for grade designations.

The standards for apple grades established by the U. S. Department of Agriculture apply in New York. The state law says that the New York grade standards "shall not be lower in their requirements than the minimum requirements of the official standards for corresponding grades of apples as promulgated from time to time by the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States, which standards are commonly known as the U. S. Grades." Under this directive, New York standards for apple grades are subject to change when the federal regulations change.

The revision of federal grade standards for apples has just been announced and will go into effect Sept. 20 of this year. This is the first change in federal apple grades in 12 years. In the main, the revision liberalizes shape and color requirements for the U. S. Extra Fancy grade, eliminates the older U. S. No. 1 Cooker grade, and requires U. S. Extra Fancy and U. S. Fancy apples after Jan. 31 following the year they were produced to be free from damage by invisible watercore. Also, a higher percentage of higher-grade apples are required in any combination pack.

U.S. Extra Fancy: These are hand-picked mature apples of one variety and free from defects, such as bruises, injury, or insect and weather damage. The apples must be well formed and have a high percentage of color for the variety. The percentage of color coverage required varies with the natural coloring of the apple variety. Under the revision effective September 20, the color requirement of certain red varieties is reduced from 75 per cent to 66 per cent.

U.S. Fancy: Specifications are about the same as those for U.S. Extra Fancy, but the color requirement is not as high.

U.S. No. 1: Requirements are about the same as for U.S. Fancy except less color is required and a small amout of russeting, a net-like surface defect, is allowed. Thus, the fruit may be less perfect in appearance than the two higher grades.

U.S. Utility: Apples of this grade may be poorly shaped but must be free from any serious damage from bruise, decay or insects.

U.S. Hail: These apples meet specifications for the U.S. No. 1 but are marred on the surface by healed hail marks. Underneath the skin the apple quality should be about equal to U.S. No. 1.

Combination: Specified combinations of two grades, such as U.S. Extra Fancy and U.S. Fancy are permitted. The recently revised standards increase the percentage of the higher grade required. For example, a combination of U.S. Extra Fancy and U.S. Fancy must contain not less than 50 per cent U.S. Extra Fancy apples rather than the formerly required 25 percent.

Many apple grade specifications deal with characteristics which make the fruit salable or limit its eye appeal at the display counters. Consumers may often find the lower, less expensive grades as useful for many purposes as the more expensive, higher grades.

Director S. C. Duncan, Division of Marketing, New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets, calls attention to a new law which offers consumer protection as well as information. Passed on July 29, 1963, the law states, "Any advertising of apples for sale at a given place shall plainly and conspicuously indicate and state the grade and variety of the apples so advertised."

Unclassified: These are ungraded. A protective provision states that not more than 15 per cent of apples sold as "unclassified" may be culls. One per cent is allowed for apples affected by decay.

Orchard run: This classification for apples of one variety must have no apples of U. S. Utility grade or better removed from the lot. Also, not more than 15 per cent may be culls.

The size of the apple is not a requirement for grade, but apples sold in a closed container must be labeled for the numerical count or the minimum diameter.

When numerical count is indicated, the smallest apple in the lot shall not be more than ¼ inch smaller than the largest apple when measured from stem to blossom end. The diameter of the apple may be used to indicate the size of apples in a closed container, if it is stamped, stenciled, or otherwise plainly marked on the container.

State law requires that each closed package of apples, when sold or offered for sale, shall be plainly and conspicuously branded to show variety (if the variety is unknown, this should be stated), grade, minimum diameter or numerical count, quantity of contents, and name and address of packer or repacker.

An exception permits consumer packages of apples of less than 10 pounds to be sold without markings, provided a bulk display of apples is adjoining. The apples in the packages must conform to the size, grade, and variety of those in the bulk supply. The display apples must be conspicuously marked to show their grade, variety and size.

B'nai B'rith Women Begin Fall Activities With Dinner Meeting Sept. 25; List Events

More than 26 members of the B'nai B'rith Women's board met recently to formulate plans for the coming season.

The meeting was called to order by president, Mrs. Irwin Gellen at the home of Mrs. Lewis Neporent. Everyone present introduced herself and announced her particular job in the organization.

Mrs. Edwin Kalish, corresponding secretary, read a letter from the B'nai B'rith-scholarship recipient, Marcia Rudd, who was deeply appreciative of the award which enabled her to go on to nursing school. Mrs. Gellen announced that the Kingston chapter received citations and a trophy for allocations and membership increase, awarded at the District convention in June. Mrs. Arnold Pinsly, a chapter past president, was elected to the District executive committee at the convention.

Mrs. George Farber, new advisor to the B'nai B'rith Girls, reported that the group planned a first meeting and a slumber party. Mrs. Max Millens issued an appeal for old eye glass frames to be sent to Eyes for the Needy. These can be brought to any meeting.

Also discussed by the board was Career Day, to be held in the spring, and a theatre party slated for Sunday, Oct. 27 at the Lyceum Theatre. Further plans for both will be announced.

Mrs. Robert A. Ronder, program co-chairman with Mrs. Arnold Pinsly and Mrs. John Levy, announced that a musical sketch adapted from My Fair Lady and called Piggy-Mallion, will be unveiled at the first general meeting. Following a discussion, a dinner meeting was scheduled at the Capri Restaurant, Port Ewen, at 7 p. m., Wednesday, Sept. 25. Mrs. Lewis Neporent and Mrs. Herbert Lyons Jr., will be hospitality chairmen.

Summer activities for B'nai B'rith included a splash party held in August, and the annual outing for the Children's Home. This outing, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Harris Gally and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ronder, was sponsored by both the chapter and lodge. It took place last month at the Jewish Community Center family campsite, Hurley Mountain Road. A noon luncheon-cookout was followed by hiking, baseball and swimming for the 25 boys who were B'nai B'rith's guests.

Aiding in the outing were AZA members Kenneth Pauker, Sam Nussbaum, Ike Nussbaum and Manes Schanzer.

The Hudson Valley Council family picnic, which was held on Sunday, Sept. 8, was a huge success, with more than 300 members, guests and children in attendance. Handling arrangements on behalf of the local chapter and lodge were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Kalish, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Semilof, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rondor. Picnickers came from the 14 chapters and lodges making up the Council. The affair was held at Camp Highpoint, in Ashokan.

Fous-Jabs Wedding Is Announced Here; Evening Ceremony in Saugerties Church

Miss Karen Anne Fous, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Fous of 40 Elm Street, Saugerties, exchanged marriage vows in a 5 p. m. candlelight wedding ceremony at Dutch Reformed Church in Saugerties with Edward Arthur Jabs of Long Island. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jabs, also of Long Island.

The Rev. Orville Jay Hine officiated at the double ring ceremony which took place on Saturday, Sept. 14. Howard Houghtaling was the organist and Mrs. Stuart Buchan, the soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of antique white brocade fashioned with a sabrina neckline piped with antique white peau de soie, long tapered sleeves and floor length bell-shaped skirt. A chapel length train was attached to a peau de soie and brocade midriff re-embroidered with seed pearls and crystal beads.

The bride's veil was short and bouffant and was held by a flat pillbox re-embroidered with seed pearls and crystals. She carried a cascade of white roses, stephanotis and trailing ivy.

For the candlelight ceremony the church was decorated with white and gold chrysanthemums, pompons, fern and magnolia.

Miss Bonnie Jean Fous of Saugerties was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a floor length bell-shaped gown of gold and copper fashioned with three quarter length sleeves and modified scoop neckline with a softly pleated cummerbund of copper peau de soie with a self fabric rose in the back. A pillbox of brocade held a short copper-colored tulle veil. She carried a crescent of copper colored pompons.

Bridesmaids were Ruth Jabs, sister of the bridegroom; Carolyn Halpert of Saugerties; Patricia Grove of Arlington, Va.; and Donna Werley, Allentown, Pa. Their gowns were identical to that worn by the maid of honor except for their gold midriffs and short gloves. They carried crescent bouquets of gold pompons.

Richard Nook of Smithtown, L. I., was best man for his brother-in-law. Ushers were Lanny Foulk of Allentown, Pa., Ronald Gossow of Harrington Park, N. J., Albert Sproule and Richard Beigel of Richmond Hill, N. Y.

Approximately 100 guests were received at a reception given in the Beekman Arms, Rhinebeck. Later the couple left on a wedding trip to Cape Cod. The bride wore a shrimp colored mohair two-piece ensemble with dark brown accessories and a corsage of white roses.

The bride was graduated from Saugerties High School and attended Muhlenberg College in Allentown. She is employed at Halpert Jewelers in Saugerties. Her husband is an alumnus of Richmond Hill High School and Muhlenberg College. He is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity and is employed by McNeil Laboratories in New Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. Jabs will be at home at 815 Second Street, Dunellen, N. J.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A crowd of celebrities turned out for the preview of the latest and possibly the greatest example of English film making, "Tom Jones."

The best picture in 10 years... The most most imaginative film since Citizen Kane ... Magnificent... These were a few of the comments overheard in the crowd.

They were deserved. "Tom Jones" is the kind of movie that is seen all too rarely, and seldom from Hollywood any more — a tasteful, brilliant exercise using all the film medium's attributes to the fullest.

"Tom Jones," Henry Fielding's precursor of the modern novel, could have been made into a musty costume drama. But producer-director Tony Richardson and screenwriter John Osborne used unlimited imagination to bring it to lusty life.

Some comedy scenes are done with the characters frozen in still photos. The camera focuses in on single faces for a plot point.

Actors deliver asides directly at the audience, or sometimes, merely a knowing wink. At one point Tom, to shield a scantily clad floozy, put his hand over the camera.

A narrator, rich in wiscom, underscores the action with rare comments and sometimes insists on fading out on seduction scenes in order to avoid offense and the wrath of the censor.

"Tom Jones" is not for everyone. It may be too lusty for children; it is openly bawdy, not dirty. Some American adults may be bewildered by the profusion of accents.

The Nile, approximately 4,000 miles long, is the longest single river in the world.

SHS Plays Highland in Opening Grid Game Friday Night

Clubs to Play At Stadium in 8 P.M. Contest

By ED PALLADINO
Freman Sports Staff

Five starters from last year's powerhouse will be in the starting lineup Friday night as Saugerties High puts its 23-game winning string on the line against Highland. The teams will collide in an 8 o'cock attraction under the Dietz Stadium lights.

Tackle Chuck Schirmer and halfback Rich Giannotti, both All-DCSL choices in '62, will co-captain this year's team. End Mike Brady, quarterback Paul Buytkins and halfback Bert Genthner are the other returning starters from the 1962 club, which scored 222 points in eight starts.

Coach Fred Seither has named Earl Martin, end; Tom Lasher and Dick Mains, guards; Art Sperl, tackle; Tom Johnson, center and either Glen Davis or Rich Snyder, fullback, as his other starters for Friday's inaugural.

Unknown Quantity

Highland, which is again competing in the UCAL after some good success in the bigger DCSL, is an unknown quantity. Coach Lem Atkins has Phil Giangrasse, a hard running back and several other players without much experience. The line is a youthful one and it seems that the Southern Ulster eleven is a year away from being a good one.

However, it doesn't take much incentive for a team to be the one to stop a long winning string. Since Saugerties hasn't lost a game since 1959, each start has much more pressure. Highland has been whipped soundly by recent SHS powerhouses and is aiming to snap the victory string.

Must Stop Richie

If the Highlanders are to score an upset triumph, they have to stop Giannotti, the fastest back in the area. Richie is a threat to go all the way each time he lugs the pigskin.

Coach Seither put his gridders through a couple of scrimmages during the past week and he wasn't too satisfied with the results. "Though we won both of them (against Hudson and Onteora), our defense wasn't too sharp and our offense could have been more productive," Seither said.

A good crowd is expected to sit in on the action as the area season commences. Saugerties has the longest winning streak in the state at present. Highland hopes it ends on Friday.

British Capture Junior Ryder Cup

DALMAHOY, Scotland (AP)—Britain warmed up for the Ryder Cup golf struggle with the United States at Atlanta next month by trimming an American squad of leading pros Wednesday, in the Junior Ryder Cup match, six up.

The match was decided on aggregate holes won, after three two-ball Scotch foresomes and seven individual contests.

Britain went into the final match one down, but Neil Coles whipped Dave Ragan of Orlando, Fla., seven up, for the victory.

The British won five singles matches.

All the players, including the Americans, are entered in a 72-hole $25,000 tournament starting on the same course today.

PITCHING — Ron Perranoski, Dodgers, pitched scoreless three-hit ball over the final six innings, getting 16th victory in 6-5, 13-inning triumph over St. Louis that dropped second-place Cardinals four games behind National League-leading Los Angeles.

BATTING — Dick Nen, Dodgers made first major league hit a homer in ninth inning that pulled Los Angeles into 5-5 tie against St. Louis.

Dick Nen - Who's He? - Lays Cardinal Hopes to Rest

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick Nen was in Oklahoma City Tuesday night, in St. Louis Wednesday night and in seventh heaven today.

Nen was the unknown commodity who turned into a valuable piece of merchandise with one swing of his bat as the National League - leading Los Angeles Dodgers crushed St. Louis' pennant hopes by edging the second-place Cardinals 6-5 in 13 innings.

A left-handed swinger, Nen, 23, was in Oklahoma City Tuesday playing for Spokane in the Pacific Coast League playoffs. With that ended, he was called up to the Dodgers and joined the club in St. Louis just before the finale Wednesday night of the three-game series between the contenders.

When the Dodgers got involved in a late-inning shuffle, Nen wound up playing first base. He came up in the ninth inning with the Dodgers trailing 5-4 and immediately collected his first major league hit—a home run that tied the score.

The Dodgers went on to win in the 13th with the help of a two-base throwing error by Julian Javier as relief ace Ron Perranoski got credit for the victory that dropped the Cardinals four games behind and virtually out of the running.

Nervous, Who Me?

"Nervous?" Nen exclaimed in answer to a question as reporters gathered around in the Dodgers dressing room. "I was scared stiff, I had no idea I'd be called upon."

Nen, who has averaged only one homer every 17 games in the PCL said he hit a fast ball, low and inside.

"I knew I hit it good, but I had no idea it was a home run until I saw the umpire give the home run sign.

"It was a strange feeling."

The loss left the Cardinals with the almost impossible task of making up five games in the loss column with only seven games remaining. The Dodgers, meanwhile will return home to close out the season with a nine-game stand.

In other NL action Wednesday, Philadelphia belted the New York Mets 5-1 in the last baseball game to be played at the Polo Grounds, Milwaukee defeated San Francisco 6-4, the Chicago Cubs edged Pittsburgh 2-1 and Houston walloped Cincinnati 8-4.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox swept a doubleheader from Boston 8-3 and 4-3, Camilo Pascual pitched a two-hitter as Minnesota crushed Detroit 10-0, Kansas City edged Washington 5-4 and Baltimore took two from the Los Angeles Angels 3-1 and 7-5, with Steve Barber becoming a 20-game winner in the opener.

Build Early Lead

The American League champion New York Yankees and Cleveland were not scheduled.

The Cardinals built a 5-1 lead on a two-run homer by Charley James in the second inning off Pete Richert and a three-run third inning capped by Curt Flood's two-run double. Cardinal starter Bob Gibson took the lead and a four-hitter into the eighth.

A two-run single by Tommy Davis and a sacrifice fly by Willie Davis brought the Dodgers to within one run, then Nen tied it in the ninth.

Perranoski, 16-3, took over in the eighth and checked the Cardinals on three hits until the Dodgers finally broke through against Lew Burdette, 9-12, in the 13th on a single by Willie Davis, the throwing error by Javier, who stumbled as he fielded Dick Tracewski's grounder, and a grounder by Wills on which the speedy Davis sped home.

Dodgers Bury 'Chokeup' Tag

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The triumphant Dodgers today had finally laid to rest the chokeup charge that has followed them since they lost the 1962 National League pennant to San Francisco.

Walter Alston's vindication-bent Los Angeles club all but buried valiant St. Louis' pennant hopes in Busch Stadium Wednesday night with a come-from-behind 6-5 victory in 13 innings that left 25,975 Redbird rooters stunned and speechless.

The dramatic victory gave the Dodgers a sweep of the three-game series here and boosted their first place lead over the Cards to four games.

The team that had to listen to such cruel taunts as "choke up artists" and "quitters" heard nothing but praise as they left this city for Los Angeles where they need win only five of their nine remaining games to earn the right to meet the New York Yankees in the World Series.

It was a wildly joyous and defiant group of Dodgers who whooped it up in the visitors' clubhouse Wednesday night. They cheered Ron Perranoski, whose brilliant pitching through six runless relief innings kept the Dodgers in the game.

Hail Dick Nen

They hailed a newcomer, Dick Nen, who hit a game-tying ninth-inning home run in his first major league game.

They lauded Tommy Davis, who got the key hit, a two-run single, in a three-run eighth inning that closed the Cardinal gap to 5-4. They hugged Willie Davis who ignited the winning rally in the 13th with a single and embraced Maury Wills who drove Willie home with the winning run.

"There isn't a guttier team in baseball," shouted Don Drysdale, the team's ace right-hander who earlier had vowed to make the choke-up critics eat their words.

"All this choke-up talk just made us that much more determined to win it," snapped Wally Moon.

Sharing the center of the stage with Perranoski in the Dodger clubhouse was Nen, 23, a left-handed hitting first baseman from Wilmington, Calif., who only two years ago was playing at Reno, Nev.

"I was scared stiff when Mr. Alston told me to go in as a pinch hitter," the tall, dark-haired youngster admitted. "I had no idea I'd play. I just figured I'd sit around."

On Active List

CLEVELAND, (AP) — Offensive guard Ted Connolly, 31, was put on the Cleveland Browns active roster Tuesday, and Andy Cvercko, 25, also an offensive guard, was cut to make room for him.

BARRED FOR GAME—Don Burroughs, defense back for the Philadelphia Eagles, poses in Philadelphia after he was barred from playing in the Eagles-St. Louis Cardinals game next Sunady. The NFL ruling resulted from his too-strenuous disagreement with officials over a play in the Eagles-Steelers game on Sept. 15. (AP Wirephoto)

College Star Signs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Virgil Howe, at first baseman who hit 11 homers for Brigham Young last spring, has signed a contract with the Philadelphia Phillies organization with a substantial bonus, scout Eddie Bockman reported Tuesday.

Daily Double Payoff Is $26

MONTICELLO — Favorites shared the spotlight in the first two dashes at Monticello Raceway again last night and the end result was a slim $26.50 daily double payoff on the 3-5 combination.

Lucien Fontaine, leading money-percentage reinsman at the meet, brought home 7-5 pick Corporal Adios in the opening $800 conditioned pace to set up the small return. Reed's Creed, driven by So Josloff, copped the second half of the DD at 9-5 odds.

Fontaine outsmarted the field in the opener as he sat back behind Lumber Lad until the final turn when he unleashed Corporal Adios. The four-year-old stallion overtook Lumber Lad halfway down the stretch and coasted home an easy winner in 2:08.2.

Corporal Adios paid back prices of $4.80, $3.60 and $3.00 while Lumber Lad was worth $4.00 and $3.00. Libby Dream was the show horse for $3.80.

Reed's Creed went the mile in 2:09.4 in the second dash—also an $800 conditioned race—to post his first victory of the season after 12 starts. The winner was worth mutuels of $5.80, $3.60 and $2.80.

Second under the wire for $5.60 and $4.10 was Bella Menel while Willie Potempkin got home third, paying $3.40.

Three-Day Wild Turkey Season Set In Delaware Co.

A special three day wild turkey season for southern Delaware County and a repeat of last year's six day open season along sections of the southern tier was announced today by the State Conservation Department.

The season for Allegany, Cattaraugus, Chautauqua and Steuben Counties will run October 21-26 with a one turkey per season bag limit. General regulations follow the same pattern as last year and hunters may use only shotguns loaded with shot not larger than No. 2. Gunning hours will be from 7 a. m. to 5 p. m. prevailing time of the state.

The season in Delaware County is the first controlled hunting of the once extinct game bird in eastern New York and marks continued progress in the Conservation Department's efforts to bring the wild turkey back to huntable status.

Limit on Permits

A total of 1,250 special permits are available on a first come, first served basis for the Delaware County season which will run October 7-9. Hunting will be limited to the area south of the West Branch of the Delaware River between Deposit and Stamford.

Permit requests must be made in writing to the Conservation Department's Stamford, New York office. All requests must be labeled "Turkey Permit Reservation" on the envelope and must be postmarked not earlier than September 23 or later than September 27. There is no special charge for a permit.

Applicants should include their name and address, their 1963 hunting or combination hunting-fishing license number and a self addressed envelope. Permits will be issued for one of three control zones in the county and hunting location preferences will be honored whenever possible.

Golfers File Appeal In Palmer Decision

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Two golfers have filed an appeal against a court decision dismissing their complaint against Arnold Palmer for his endorsement of what they claim are defective golf carts.

Carl F. Stohm of Plattsburgh and Archie MacDougal of Rouses Point said they each paid $257 for the golf carts after receiving a letter signed by Palmer praising the vehicles.

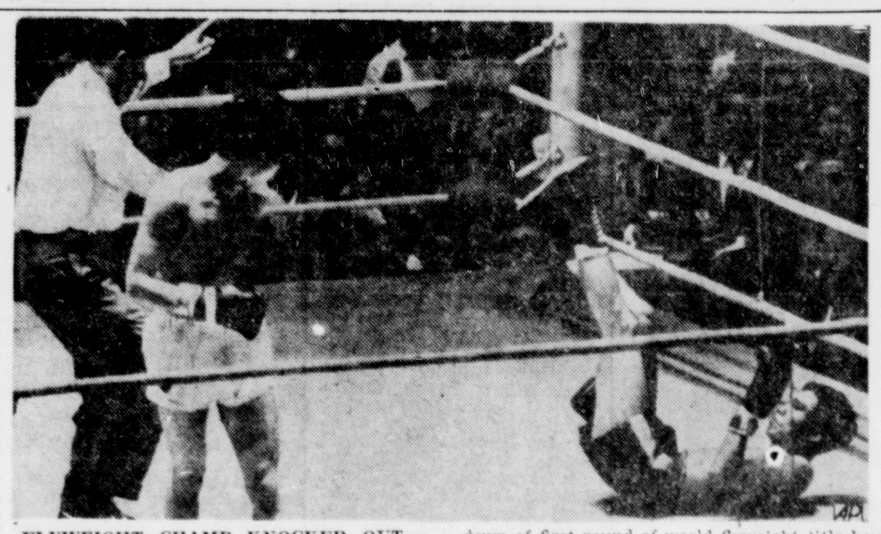

In their suit, the men complained that the golf carts did not perform as advertised.

The Clinton County Court dismissed the case against Palmer and the Arnold Palmer Golf Cart Co., on the ground that Palmer did not have a contract with Stohm or MacDougal.

The men have appealed to the Appellate Division, Third Department, State Supreme Court.

Nittany Lions Enjoying Role Of the Underdog

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) —For the first time in years, Penn State's Nittany Lions are heading into a footbal season virtually unranked, and Coach Rip Engle couldn't be happier.

"Finally someone else is on the spot," grins the silver-thatched Engle who loves the role of underdog.

Then, philosophically, he adds: "There's been an awful lot of pressure on our guys in past years because of top ratings. When you're tabbed a champion, everybody's trying to pick you off, week after week. Now we can go out and try to do some picking off ourselves."

State, which captured its second straight Lambert Trophy last year emblematic of college football supremacy in the East, kicks off its 1963 season Saturday night under the lights at Portland against the University of Oregon.

Rare Position

In some corners, the Lions are underdogs in the contest, a spot they haven't occupied in quite some time.

Engle said he can't really blame "the experts" for downgrading the Lions this year (most pick them behind Navy, Pitt and Syracuse in the East).

"After all, we did lose a bunch of good players from last year and if I were picking them on paper, that's the way I'd see it too."

But Rip doesn't feel any one team is "head or shoulders" above any other team in the East as far as the Big Five and Boston College are concerned. State, Army, Navy, Pitt and Syracuse make up the Big Five.

"It should be a real dog fight," he claims. "And we'll be right in it."

Mystery Surrounds Sonny's Sudden Return to Country

By DON WILLIAMS
Associated Press Sports Writer

DENVER (AP) — Heavyweight champion Sonny Liston, back home suddenly and mysteriously from a British exhibition boxing tour, says he is "ashamed to be in America."

But he doesn't say why, any more than he will explain what prompted him to break off his successful overseas swing and hop a jet flight home.

Asked why he was ashamed to be here, the world's champion said Wednesday night: "You ought to be able to figure that out."

And when asked whether it was financial or family matters that brought him back, he retorted: "That's getting just plain nosey."

Liston left British boxing circles buzzing Wednesday with his sudden departure. A boxing writer for a London newspaper said the champion had a tiff with his adviser, Jack Nilon, who denied this was so. The Midlands inspector of the British Boxing Board of Control, William Cotterill, said Liston had accused him of "sending 'two broads' up to his room" but that he convinced the champion it wasn't true.

Daughter Is Ill

Sonny himself said he was leaving because of the illness of his daughter, Eleanor, 12, at home in Denver. The mention of the girl was something new in itself. It had not been known that Liston was a father.

At the Liston residence in northeast Denver, the champion's wife of nine years, Geraldine, said the girl is Liston's daughter—and her stepdaughter—and that the child was in good health and attended school Wednesday.

Nilon and Liston's sparring partner, Foneda Fox, made another swirl in the conflicting rumors stirred up by the champion's abrupt flight. They said Sonny had not one, but two daughters, and that the older one, Mary, is 17.

This would mean Liston fathered a child when he was about 13. He is now 29, according to Ring, the boxing magazine, or 30,, according to Ben Bentley, his aide.

But Liston has offered no light on his age, his parental state, his relations with boxing associates and officials, or his reason for returning stateside.

Upstages Reporters

The champion was slow rising from his seat after his jet landed at the Denver Airport. He made up for the delay by striding at a near-run down the loading ramp and into the concourse at the terminal. He swung a heavy black cane as he loped, and he treated reporters like a pack of unworthy contenders pestering him for a match.

He stopped suddenly and announced:

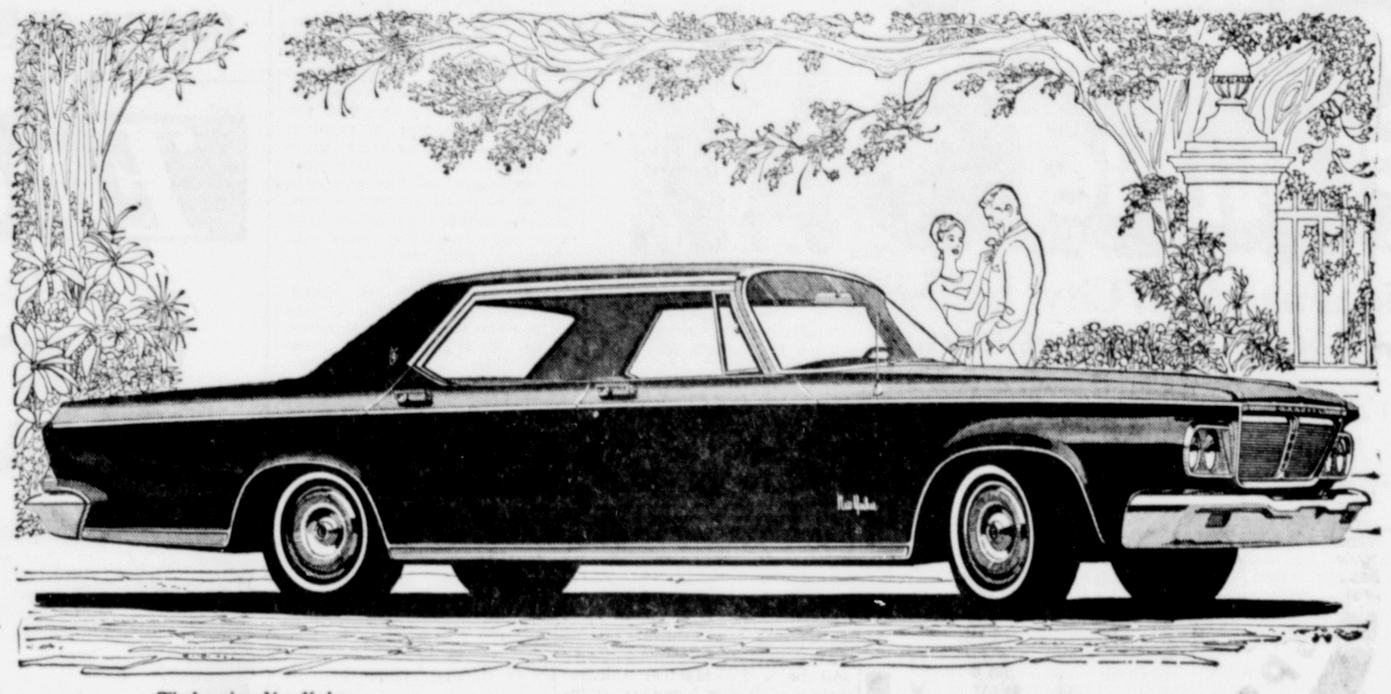

"I'm ashamed to say that I'm in America."

But wasn't it the British with whom he was supposed to be angry?

"You should see the way they treated me," the champion replied. "It made me ashamed to be from America."

Power Squadron To Sponsor Course In Navigation

Free classes in navigation, small boat handling and safety at sea will be sponsored by the Mid-Hudson Power Squadron on Monday nights at Kingston High school starting next Monday night.

The classes consist of 10 weekly lectures. Subjects covered include rules of the nautical road, equipment required by law, seamanship, the compass, and chartwork. An examination concludes the course. Classes are open to men and women regardless of whether or not they own a boat.

Joseph A. Crane of Hyde Park is commander of the Mid-Hudson Power Squadron, which is one of more than 342 Squadrons, each a unit of the United States Power Squadron. BOWLING

Bowlerama, Mid-City Lanes Named KBA Tourney Sites

Ferraro's Bowlerama has been awarded the team event for the annual Kingston Bowling Association championships which will be held February 8-9, 1964.

Mid-City Lanes, also operated by John S. Ferraro, was awarded the minor events (singles and doubles), scheduled February 15-16, the KBA has announced.

Selection of the team event site was determined by a blind draw. The Bowlerama won over Sangi's Bowlero and College Lanes of New Paltz, the three establishments designated as eligible for the team event by the executive committee of the Kingston Bowling Association. All three establishmnts bid 50 cents per line for the team event and by pre-agreement, the decision was made by drawing a name from a hat.

Mid-City Lanes bid 45 cents a line for the minor events. Boiceville Lanes submitted a bid of 50 cents and Chalet Lanes of Rosendale, the third house eligible for the events, did not submit a bid. The executive committee voted unanimously to accept the bid of Mid-City Lanes.

Three Attend

Only three alley representatives—John Ferraro, Jack Ferraro and Charles Manfro—of the Bowlerama and Mid-City Lanes attended the special meeting of the KBA's executive committee to which all proprietors had been invited.

Philip Battaglia, KBA president, opened the special meeting by explaining that the association now includes six bowling establishments. In fairness to the proprietors and, similarly, to league bowlers participating in each establishment, equal opportunity should be offered to bowl the tournament on their home lanes, he said.

For these reasons, Battaglia explained, the KBA executive committee, decided at its August meeting to adopt a policy of declaring the three largest establishments — Bowlerama, Sangi's and College Lanes — as "team event houses." The three smaller establishments — Mid-City Lanes, Boiceville and Chalet Lanes in Rosendale were declared participating houses for the minor events.

Advise Proprietors

Each proprietor was advised accordingly and asked to to submit a bid covering tournament rates, hours of availability, and numerous other points of consideration. Proprietors were also invited to attend the regular Sept. 10 meeting when bids would be opened. They were informed that if bids were comparable this year's selections would be decided by drawing from a hat the name of the establishment to be awarded the event in question.

For the team event all three bids were comparable. Since none of the bowling proprietors was present, a special meeting was called Tuesday night.

Prior to the drawing a discussion on the subject of tournament policies and awarding of bowling establishments on a rotating basis resulted in the KBA executive committee agreeing to hold a meeting with all area proprietors before the start of the 1964 season to resolve any problems.

Union College Has High Hopes for Al Hrdlicka

Al Hrdlicka, former Saugerties High School athlete, is expected to play a key role in Union College football coach Joe Mara's plans for the 1963 season.

Hrdlicka is one of several outstanding sophomores who are slated to see a lot of action during the season, according to Maras. Whether he will win a starting position remains to be seen, however. He is engaged in a very close competition with Brendan Hutchinson, a 20-year-old junior from Madison, N. J.

"Both boys have been giving everything they have," Maras said. "Their excellent and keen desires are having remarkable effects on their performances."

Expect Big Things

Both are about the same size and have about the same amount of speed. Hrdlicka is 5-11, 177 pounds and Hutchinson is 5-11, 175 pounds.

"Al has picked up where he left off last season," Maras said. "Nothing could please me more. He's definitely going to play a lot of football for us."

While at Saugerties Central, he lettered in basketball, football, track and baseball. He won numerous athletic honors, including high school all-America honorable mention. He was also president of his class all four years.

At union, he is an electrical engineering student, and Union College Alumni Club of Schenectady Scholar. A regular on freshman basketball team last season, he is expected to join the varsity team at the end of the football season.

He is the son of Mrs. Edna M. Hrdlicka, 11 Elm Street, Saugerties.

Ennis Leads KHS Harriers

Led by Dave (Chip) Ennis, the outstanding runner in Section Nine, Kingston High's cross-country should be tough to beat this season. New coach Bob Fitzmaurice, who replaces the retired G. Warren Kias at the helm, feels Ennis will break the school record of 11:05, now held by Ray Petersen.

However, Ennis is not the only reason the locals will be powerful. Barry Goggin, George Brocco and Richard Plaatsman, the three who figure to finish behind Ennis, are all letter winners from last season.

Others who might help in the pointmaking department are Ronald Wilson and James, both newcomers.

The rest of the squad includes Mark Adin, Mike Angstrom, John Brown, Thomas Brown, John Burns, Dennis Cafferety, Joseph Camuto, Barry Cohen, Stephen Davis, Joseph Esposito, Frank Hample, John Henze, David Hyatt, Doug Jacobson, Marc Johnsen, Bruce Kennedy, Gary Kobrau, Robert Lacey, Charles Lawrence, Art Mowle, George Phillips, Thomas Policano, Lawrence Scanlon, Robert Schnitzer, Russ Suppies, Maris Tirums, Robert Tomaszewski and Joel Tomsen.

Fitzmaurice will be taking over a squad which captured the DUSO and Section 9 meet and which finished fourth in the state. "I am looking forward to be coaching a squad which has been brought a long way by G. Warren Kias," he said.

The varsity schedule:

Date	Opponent	Where
Sept. 27	Newburgh	Away
Oct. 4	Port Jervis	Home
Oct. 17	Middletown	Away
Oct. 24	DUSO	Bear Mt.
Nov. 1	Section 9	Bear Mt.

Braves Franchise Tottering As Atlanta, San Diego Bid

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves' "miracle" is faced with a "bust" ending and community leaders are feeling the pinch of a shoe on the wrong foot.

Eleven years ago, Milwaukee lured the Braves from Boston by presenting owner Lou Perini an ultimatum: Move or we'll get another club. Now Milwaukee is threatened with loss of its major league baseball franchise.

A syndicate of young businessmen, headed by Bill Bartholomay, purchased the Braves from Perini for $5.5 million last fall. Although financially independent as individuals, the new owners borrowed most of the purchase money.

Now financial pressure has been applied on Bartholomay and his partners. As Milwaukee attendance dwindles, they are faced with a tremendous decision. Other cities, especially Atlanta and San Diego, are making fabulous offers to get the Braves.

The Braves were welcomed with open arms when they came to Milwaukee. Players and club officials were showered with gifts and hailed by baseball fans hungry for major league status.

The Braves drew 1,826,937 fans in their first season at County Stadium. They attracted more than two million in each of the next four years, hitting 2,215,004 while winning the National League pennant in 1957.

Steady Decline

Milwaukee repeated as league champion in 1958, but attendance slipped to 1,971,101. Home turnouts have fallen off ever since. Last year only 766,927 paid admissions were recorded and, with only five home dates left this season, the count is 30,000 behind that low total.

Bartholomay says he can't "imagine" the Braves playing outside Milwaukee. John McHale, club president and general manager as well as an owner, says only that any decision must be made by the board of directors.

Meanwhile, reports persist that the Braves already are committed to Atlanta for the opening of the 1964 season.

The Braves officially say that no commitment has been made.

McHale met with county executive John Doyne for an hour and a half Wednesday. McHale said the meeting was merely to provide Doyne information on what the Braves need to "break even" in Milwaukee.

Satisfactory

DALLAS (AP) — Fullback Prentice Gautt of the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League was reported in satisfactory condition Wednesday in a Dallas hospital where he was taken after suffering a kidney injury in a game Saturday with the Dallas Cowboys.

On Their Own

PULLMAN, Wash. (NEA) — Coach Jim Sutherland of Washington State says that the new football substitution rules virtually eliminate calling plays from the bench.

NEWLY-STYLED CHRYSLER — Chrysler has an attractive offering of 1964 cars with special emphasis on comfortable motoring, safety and exceptional road performance. Shown is the New Yorker Salon with a vinyl-covered roof and more than 40 extra luxury and convenience features as standard equipment, including air conditioning, a reclining front seat, adjustable head rests and Auto Pilot speed control. The Chrysler line consists of 16 models in three series-the New Yorker, the 300 sports car and the economical Newport. Among the new features are a seven-position vertically-adjustable steering wheel, and a four-speed floor-mounted manual transmission. For sports car rally enthusiasts, Chrysler offers the 300K as both a convertible and two-door hardtop in 1964. It is available with a standard 360 horsepower or optional 390 horsepower V8 engine with ram induction manifold. The 5-year or 50,000-mile warranty on engine and drive train components is continued on the 1964 Chrysler.

Big Deal

ST. LOUIS (NEA)—A woman sent a note along with her season ticket renewal application to the professional football St. Louis Cardinals. "If this check is too late for the seats we have had the last two years please call me so I may die by my own hand, rather than by the Victorian torture my husband has in mind," it read. "Please!" Nearly all National Football League ticket offices will tell you that many fans, male and female, had the same outlook.

Too Fast

MINNEAPOLIS — (NEA) — Mickey Tinglehoff is good for a 10-year career with the Minnesota Vikings, according to Norm Van Brockline, their coach:

A free agent from Nebraska, Tinglehoff made the professional club a year ago as a starting recruit center.

"Mick is one of the most coachable boys I've ever run into," says Van Brockline. "He has great desire. If he has a fault it is that he gets off the ball so fast sometimes that he [illegible] who have hit home

Fishing Guide Now Available

The 1963-64 edition of the Conservation Department's "Hunting, Trapping, Fishing Guide" is now available at most license-issuing agents throughout the state.

The 30-page booklet gives a complete run-down on the principal regulations affecting hunting, trapping and fishing activities for sportsmen.

Copies of the "Guide" are available at village, town, city and county clerk's offices, many sporting goods stores and other authorized license-issuing agents. In addition, all Conservation Department regional and district offices have copies of the booklet on hand.

In a prologue to the "Guide," Conservation Commissioner Harold G. Wilm reminds sportsmen that a potential 25 million acres of hunting and fishing land are in private ownership. "Here sportsmen are guests of the landowner," he says, "and their actions frequently determine whether or not posting signs go up."

Included in this year's edition is a special section entitled, "Let's Team Up," prepared by the Department in cooperation with the New York State Fish and Wildlife Management Board. Other features carried in the "Guide" include timely hints to promote better landowner-sportsmen relations, common sense suggestions on gun safety and a check list of "do's and don't's" for sportsmen travelling off the beaten path.

Sire Stakes Go To Broadway Joe

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Broadway Joe is a horse that just loves to see his name up in lights—the winning lights on the pari-mutual board. And that's what he saw Wednesday night at Vernon Downs following his victory in the New York Sire Stakes 3-year-old trot.

The bay colt covered the mile in 2:03 1-5 for a three-length victory over Mary Clancy in the $3,400 event. P. R. Vic was third. Broadway Joe returned $3.10.

In other harness racing action in New York State Wednesday night:

Pinehaven Flash paced a mile in 2:03 to win the Katona Pace at Yonkers Raceway. The winner paid $9.60.

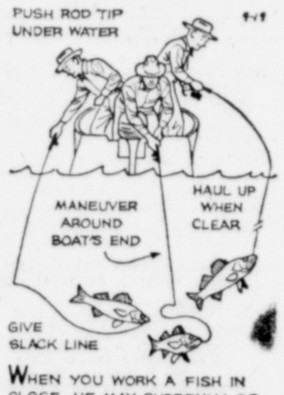

At Batavia Downs, W. D. Hal, captured the $2,500 claiming pace in 2:05 4-5 and returned $4.40.

Hal McKlyo and Glib Wick won divisions of the $3,000 James Gormley Memorial Pace at Saratoga Raceway in 2:03 2-5 and 2:06 3-5 respectively. Hal McKlyo returned $2.90, Glib Wick, $11.70.

At Monticello Raceway, Nevele Meadow paid $5.40 for the win in the $2,500 conditioned pace. The winning time was 2:04 3-5.

PLAYING A FISH UNDER THE BOAT

WHEN YOU WORK A FISH IN CLOSE, HE MAY SUDDENLY GO UNDER THE BOAT AND FOUL THE LINE UNLESS YOUR TACKLE IS STRONG ENOUGH TO TURN HIM. IF NOT—AND HE'S A BIG FISH, POINT ROD TIP DEEP AND GIVE SLACK LINE WHILE WORKING IT AROUND BOAT TO OTHER SIDE.

Tantrum

UNION, Mo. (NEA) — Missouri conservation agent Vernon E. Seiler is convinced that some men take their wives mistakes too seriously.

Seiler gave a woman a summons for fishing without a permit. She paid a $5 fine and $11 costs after pleading guilty. When her husband heard about it, he picked up their two fishing rods, complete, with reels, and threw them into the Meramee River.

Then the husband dragged their wooden boat onto the bank, pushed it over their campfire and piled brush on the fire to make sure the craft burned to a cinder.

"I gather he was upset," commented Seiler.

High Roller

DALLAS, Tex. (NEA) — Ken McKenzie, a 21-year-old Dallas left-hander, scored four perfect games in six weeks.

This made him the fifth man in American Bowling Congress history to roll four or more sanc-ed 300 games in one season.

te Kozloski, of Plains, Pa., holds the all-time record of five perfect games in a single season, 1953-54.

Asked how he did it, McKenzie replied, "I've got no earthly idea."

Announcing Plymouth and Valiant for 1964

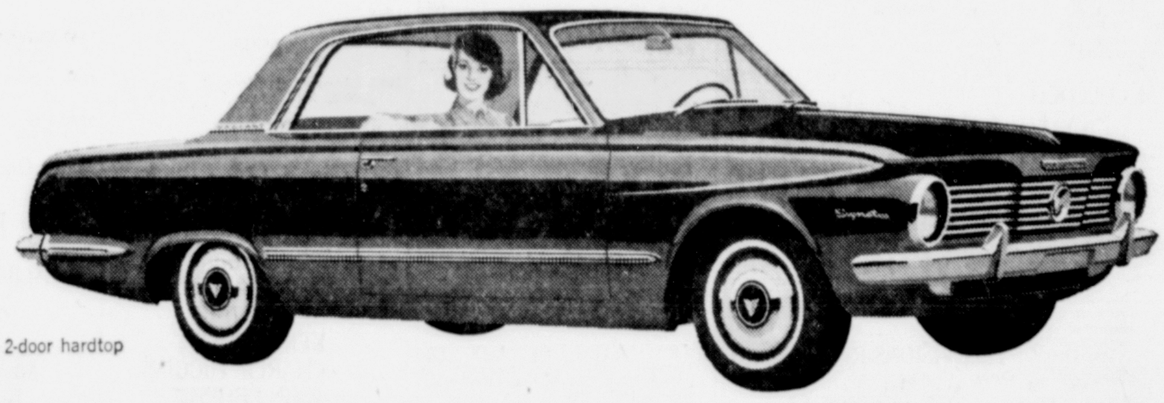

Sport Fury 2-door hardtop

This good-looking 1964 Plymouth really gets up and goes and has a 5-year/50,000-mile warranty* to keep it going that way.

This is the handsome full-size Plymouth for 1964. A few slow circles around it reveal the clean, simple, strong shape of the modern Plymouth. Newness is immediately apparent from the front, back, and profile, especially the new 2-door hardtop roofline shown above. Inside the car, more new beauty, and fabric strength to preserve that beauty. Then there is the special way this car performs. Thousands of laps around the Proving Grounds show that the 1964 Plymouth is quick, alert, vigorous—a sure bet to maintain Plymouth's performance superiority of the past two years. And there's the 5-year/50,000-mile engine and drive train warranty* that backs up the performance of all 26 models of Plymouth for 1964. In other words, if this is the year you picked to buy a new car, you picked a beautiful year to

This smart-looking 1964 Valiant is a hummer in its own right and it's the low-priced compact with a 5-year/50,000-mile warranty.*

It would take an awful lot of compact to top Valiant/64 style. Take styling. The new Valiant is newest coming at you, with its completely redesigned grille. Valiant presents a new rear view, too, to admiring followers. All around the car, there is more charm than compacts are supposed to have. Take performance. The new Valiant's standard 101-hp engine is where the word "hummer" comes from; its optional 225-cu.-in. engine is where the word "good-bye" comes from. Take quality. A 5-year/50,000-mile warranty guards the performance of each new Valiant.* Low price is the new Valiant's wrapper-upper. You could do a lot of looking around and never come up with a better value. It's at the same place you'll find the new 1964 Plymouth . . . at your nearby Plymouth-Valiant Dealer's.

Pay Arrangement For Newburgh Span Made by Authority

A financial adjustment to permit payment of money owed to the New York State Department of Public Works by the New York State Bridge Authority through advances granted for construction of the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge, was approved at a meeting of the authority Wednesday in Poughkeepsie.

Sale of $38,000,000 in bonds was authorized. It will cover $25,000,000 advanced for construction of the bridge, which is due to open to traffic Nov. 2, and another authority indebtedness of $13,000,000.

The public works department had advanced sums amounting to about 90 per cent of the cost of the new span.
